ONE WOMAN'S DAY

By NANCY HODGES

'NESSIE' VS. 'CADDY'

A CERTAIN LOCAL columnist of Scottish origin recently took up the cudgels on behalf of "Caddy," the sea-serpent that bobs up every now and again in the waters off Victoria. He was protesting against the ignoring of our local denizen of the deep in an article, "The Truth About the Sea-Serpent," written by a Mr. Charles Graves, a journalist of London, Eng.

Mr. Graves, it seems, claims that in all his research into ancient fables, old and new newspapers and works of reference, he had found evidence of only three well-established sea-serpents with unimpeachable records. But "Caddy" wasn't among the three. What's worse, our local pet wasn't among the also-rans, either. He was never even mentioned.

SCOTTISH SAMPLE

I CAN QUITE understand my fellow-columnist's feelings being hurt by this slight to local pride, for, whatever one may think of that elusive entity, "Caddy" is, after all, "a poor thing, but our own"—to paraphrase the poet whose name I forget.

But what amazes me is that this self-same Scot closes his own column with a reference to "Caddy" as "the only real, authentic sea-serpent alive." My eyes literally bulged when I read that. I couldn't believe that any Scot, no matter how long resident in Canada, could commit such heresy against his native land as to ignore, flout and so insult a Scottish celebrity of centuries-old tradition.

SEEN BY SAINT

FOR WHILE he has been fished about Mr. Graves' ignorance of the existence of "Caddy," he has seemingly overlooked that author's flagrant omission from the sea-serpent trinity of the "Loch Ness monster." And while boasting of Caddy's having been about as far back as Captain Cook's day, the local Scot evidently forgets the antiquity of "Nessie."

In the mellow mood inspired by the bouquet of Lowland heather and hielan' dew, clansmen who gathered in Edinburgh for the Festival of Britain proudly recalled that "Nessie" was first heard of in the sixth century, when she was rebuked by Saint Columba for snapping at one of his followers while crossing the River Ness.

BOOST BY BBC

WHAT'S MORE, while "Caddy" can boast of having been snapped by an American visitor—with a camera that now lies at the bottom of Brentwood Bay, along with the "snap"—"Nessie" can hold her horse-head high with pride at having starred on TV. For the British Broadcasting Company sent a television crew up to Fort Augustus, Loch Ness, to get the fabulous monster on the screen.

As a result, British televisioners—or whatever it is that television watchers are called—had an hour-and-a-half program in which the central star was a nightmarish something, accompanied by half a dozen humans who claimed to have seen it in person, and a scientist who was a bit more sceptical.

'NOT PROVEN'

HOWEVER, despite all that evidence, the TV jury returned a typically Scotch verdict of "not proven." But that didn't daunt the Fort Augustus folk who rejoiced that TV had given their local star such a fine boost—and the local tourist business a fine Festival filip.

Nor did it daunt the local Loch Ness authorities on the subject of their sea-serpent. Rev. J. A. Carruth of Fort Augustus claimed he had eye-witness accounts from "clergymen, medical men, naval officers, schoolmaster, and local government officials." He summed up all their reports as describing the "monster" as about 45 feet long, 10 feet of which were head and neck, 20 feet body, and 15 feet tail, with a rough brown hide and two, or perhaps four, flippers or fins. The reverend gentleman didn't mention a horse-like head, but even without it "Caddy" and "Nessie" obviously are brother and sister under the skin.

SCOTTISH SKEPTICS

SAD TO RELATE there are skeptics, even in Scotland, about something as Scottish as a Loch Ness sea-serpent. For after a bank manager had attested to seeing the "Nessie" this nasty letter appeared in an Inverness paper:

"Dear sir: Although not acquainted with the bank manager, I should like to confirm his statement. From my viewpoint in the Loch I could see him distinctly on the shore with his friends and I actually saw them leap to safety from the wash which I caused when racing up the Loch."

"Might I ask sightseers to return their empty bottles, for the amount of broken glass in and around the Loch is very dangerous to us amphibians."

"Yours faithfully, THE MONSTER."

So it isn't perhaps, to be wondered at that a Scot some thousands of miles away should ignore her existence.

ORNITHOLOGICAL PUZZLE

Identify Strange Visitors As 'Turkey Buzzard' Flock

Hundreds of Victorians were puzzled by flocks of large birds which circled and flew over Victoria during the Thanksgiving week-end and on Tuesday.

The birds have been identified by Charlie Guiguet, Provincial Museum biologist, as "turkey buzzards." The bird is about the size of an eagle and is known to nest on Vancouver Island.

"There are no records of the birds being seen here in such large numbers," Mr. Guiguet said. "They are more commonly seen on the east coast."

"It indicates there must be a large colony of turkey buzzards nesting on Vancouver Island."

A flock of about 150 were seen by Jerry Maxwell circling over Ross Bay on Sunday. Another large flock was sighted flying just above the tree tops at Ten Mile Point, York Edwards, a biologist, also reported seeing a flock of some 55 birds flying over Victoria.

Empress Hotel elevator operator Florence McLeod gets "de luxe" autograph from idol Nelson Eddy.

Someone Following Eddy! Should He Tell Missus?

By DICK PAUL

Nelson Eddy, not the gay singing cavalier he was over a decade ago, but still a very personable figure, sat in the Empress Hotel lobby today and mumbled:

"Boy, do my dogs hurt!"

Eddy had just finished a morning walking tour of downtown Victoria.

"Yes," he said, reflectively, "I'd call it contented. Victoria is a very contented city, and that's pretty good, I guess, in this day and age."

"But," added the heavy-set singing star who had last been here 13 years ago, "where are the cops' bobby helmets?"

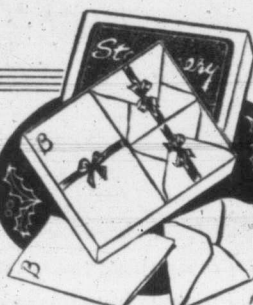

Eddy, here to present a concert tonight at the Royal Theatre, is now, a middle-aged, happily-married fellow with silver streaks in his hair, but he still has the glamour of old.

Three attractive Australian girls, hardly out of their teens, met Eddy, their idol for many years, in Vancouver and announced that since they had a little cash and time on their hands they would follow him about for a half dozen or more concerts.

A bit taken back, but pleased, Eddy exclaimed:

"Why they're doing it, I don't know. But I'm flattered."

GOVERNMENT AT JOHNSON

YOUNG CALIFORNIAN FACES CHARGE AS POLITICAL SPY

GENEVA (CP).—A young American today faced Swiss federal charges of political spying on behalf of Senator Joseph McCarthy (Rep.-Wis.).

The Swiss government accused Charles E. Davis, 24, of Pasadena, Calif., of violating Swiss sovereignty by gathering information about John Carter Vincent, formerly U.S. minister to Switzerland, and supplying it to McCarthy.

Davis also was charged with leaving his landlady with a bill for more than $100 for telephone calls to the U.S.—one to McCarthy.

His trial is scheduled for Monday.

Davis was arrested last November and has since been under treatment in a tuberculosis hospital.

PLAY BY PLAY WORLD SERIES

NEW YORK—A play-by-play description of today's World Series baseball between the New York Giants and New York Yankees follows:

FIRST INNING
GIANTS—Stanky looked at a called strike, worked Raschi for a full count, then rolled out. McDougald to Mize. Dark watched third strike go by. Lockman smashed Raschi's first pitch into the lower right-field stands on a hop for an automatic double. Irvin grounded sharply to Rizzuto who threw to Mize for the out.

YANKES—Rizzuto popped to Irvin behind short. Coleman cracked a low line single through the middle at first. Rizzuto threw to Mize for the out. Mize threw to Coleman for the out. Mize threw to Coleman for the out. Mize threw to Coleman for the out.

SECOND INNING
GIANTS—Rizzuto raced into the hole behind third to make the catch. Stanky's bouncer but his long hurried throw pulled Mize off the base. Left. Thompson was credited with an infield single. Thompson was credited with an infield single. Thompson was credited with an infield single.

THIRD INNING
GIANTS—Stanky sent a long fly to Woodling who made the catch. The strong wind blowing in from the outfield to home plate prevented Stanky's long drive from being home run. Dark walked on four pitches. Lockman to Rizzuto who stepped on second to force Dark and threw to first to double up Lockman.

FOURTH INNING
GIANTS—Irvin walked on five pitches. Thompson rapped sharply into the third-base line to McDougald who threw to Coleman forcing Irvin at second. The relay was too late to double up the batter. Thompson slashed a single past Rizzuto. Rizzuto threw to Mize. Thompson pulled up at third. Manager Casey Stengel and several Yankees claimed Thompson failed to touch second on his way to third but umpire ruled that second base did not agree with them.

FIFTH INNING
GIANTS—Mays slashed a single through the middle into centerfield.

SIXTH INNING
GIANTS—Thompson walked on five pitches. It was the fifth base on balls issued by Raschi. Rizzuto scooped up Thompson's grounder through the pitcher's box. Rizzuto threw to Mize at first to double up the batter. It was the Yankees' 19th double, play your record set by Washington against the Giants in 1921.

SEVENTH INNING

Planning Italy As West Arsenal

Could Make $600,000,000 Worth
Of Weapons Yearly With No Trouble

By STAN SWINTON

ROME (AP)—Italy is preparing to become a major arsenal for western Europe's rearmament. She has the idle industrial potential and surplus manpower to pour out a steady stream of small arms, ammunition, explosives and vehicles.

U.S. experts estimate 25 per cent of the capacity of heavy—or so-called mechanical engineering—industries has been unused since the Second World War.

One said today Italy could turn out a minimum of $600,000,000 worth of weapons annually without any cutbacks in the civilian economy. Other estimates range up to $800,000,000 annual production.

Belgium and France also have unused industrial capacity, but U.S. experts say manpower shortages might limit their contribution.

Financing is the major problem. The United States' "off-shore" procurement program is expected by U.S. authorities here to provide the solution.

Under this program, instead of sending all arms from the U.S. to the western Allies, many of the weapons will be purchased in Europe. This will shore up the European economy after the end of foreign aid through the economic co-operation administration.

It will also provide employment and indirectly aid the fight against Communism in western Europe by increasing the property of the industrial workers.

Italy's war plants reached their peak productivity in 1943. After that war material shortages hurt them severely.

Surveys indicate that 80 per cent of this war industry potential survived Allied bombings and ground fighting.

U.S. experts say that, while some retooling would be necessary, most of it is comparatively simple.

While machine tools are a bottle-neck in the U.S. now, Italy's machine tool industry has unsold stockpiles due to poor sales in 1949 and 1950.

Italy also has the manpower. Latest figures show 1,700,000 unemployed.

Mossadegh Fails U.K. In Illness

By A. I. GOLDBERG

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Britain today kept trying to get behind-the-scenes agreement for United Nations Security Council action in the Iranian oil dispute. But the ailments of Iran's aged premier, secluded in a New York hospital, appeared to have blocked any council debate this week.

A council meeting scheduled for tomorrow was postponed, U.N. sources said, after the Iranian "indicated" they would appreciate the delay because of Premier Mohammed Mossadegh's condition.

Cowichan Fish Poaching Described By Officer

Still to face charges of firing on federal officers, three fishermen in Duncan police court paid fines on other counts Tuesday.

William H. McDonald, George Hubert and Albert Bergan, all involved in the alleged exchange of shots between their craft and R.C.M.P. and fisheries patrol vessels, were charged also with obstructing officers and illegal fishing in Cowichan Bay Sept. 14.

Archie A. Sherman, fisheries patrol officer, told of being forcibly ejected from a fishing boat he was investigating for illegal fishing.

McDonald and Hubert were each fined $100 for obstructing Sherman in the execution of his duty. Hubert and Bergan were each fined $150 and costs for illegally using a net in Cowichan Bay. McDonald earlier was fined a similar amount for the same offense.

The more serious charges will be heard next Tuesday.

Milk Under Government

WHETHER THE FARMERS OF BRITISH Columbia deserve a further increase in the price of milk, whether the distributors are getting too much of the consumer's dollar and whether there can be savings in distribution costs between the farm and the kitchen, we do not pretend to know. The economics of the milk business are beyond the grasp of the layman and we judge, beyond the grasp of the government.

But one thing is clear—when the farmers insist on regulation of milk prices under a government agency they must be prepared to accept the agency's findings. Otherwise the milk control system is meaningless and had better be abolished.

The argument for milk control is that the free competitive market is unjust to the farmer. The present system was established almost entirely on the investigation of the farmers to protect themselves from this injustice. They believed that an impartial board of experts could fix a milk price just alike to them and to the consumer. They believed that human intelligence, residing in the state or its agent, was higher than that of the market.

Human intelligence, first in the form of the milk board and then of the cabinet, has decided that milk shall be sold for certain prices. The farmers reply that these prices are insufficient and far less than they could get on the open, and uncontrolled market. They are saying, in other words, whether they realize it or not, that the market is in fact wiser and more just than the state regulators.

The farmers, we believe, have an unanswerable case for higher prices if, as they say, the free market would pay those prices. But they cannot have it both ways. They cannot suppress the free market, they cannot demand the protection of the state over-riding the market through the milk board and, at the same time, reject the decisions of the authority which they have established.

A dairyman's strike, under these conditions—however just the farmers' claims—would be quite illogical since it would indict the very authority which was erected at the farmers' behest. It would make nonsense of the whole theory of milk control, the theory that official regulators are better than the competition of the market. If the farmers are ready to strike because the milk board is unfair to them then they themselves proclaim that their own system does not work.

If the farmers so declare, if they repudiate their own system, the government should abolish it forthwith. If there is to be state control of any commodity the state's decisions must be accepted, good or bad. That is the penalty of all state controls.

The dairy farmers, who probably have had a worse deal than most groups in the community and who deserve much better treatment for their long work hours and hard life, are just beginning to understand that any system of state controls is a two-edged sword, that human regulators can err as badly as the impersonal market, that government is not infallible.

Their unsolved problem should sober those who think that all the problems of an inflationary period can be solved by some general system of government price control—in other words by an extension of the milk board principle to every kind of goods. The protest of the farmers, the talk of a strike, are just a foretaste of what would happen in every sector of the national economy if we tried to control everything as we are trying, rather unsatisfactorily, to control milk.

It Must Fall

THE INEVITABLE PRICE WHICH Canadians must pay for military security, says Mr. Abbott, is a fall in their average standard of living. This should be the most obvious mathematical fact of the times but it is the fact most ignored. On every side various groups of Canadians are trying to escape the price of military security, are trying to maintain or even to raise their living standard.

In some cases they succeed. Many powerful labor unions are today earning more real wages than ever—money wages have advanced far more than prices, which means that the recipients can buy more goods than formerly. But in turn this only means that, with the total supply of goods limited, other Canadians must take less. A minority can refuse to pay the penalty. The majority must pay.

There is no way around that simply because defense is now taking a substantial slice of our total production. We can not eat guns. Since we must put more of our labor and materials into guns we must have less butter. The wonder is not that our living standard must fall very slightly but that it is not shattered.

Limiting Sidewalk Crossings

WHEN CITY DELEGATES SPEAK AT the U.B.C.M. convention this week on Victoria's resolution to limit the width of sidewalk crossings and loading zones they will doubtless face contention and opposition. The resolution, in its present form, would restrict free crossings to gas stations, parking lots and similar places of business to eight feet, and would give the city the right to charge rentals or fees, presumably on a foot-age basis, for any space above that amount.

Opposition has already arisen from certain merchants. They contend that curb parking should not be revenue producing, that extra space taken up by crossings should not be subject to fees to compensate for parking meters, and that many garages, which provide off-street parking facilities, would be injured by the proposed regulation.

A Canadian In Asia

CANADA IS MAKING A PRETTY small contribution to the Colombo Plan of economic aid to Southeast Asia but at least it has found the best possible man to administer it.

Capt. R. G. Cavell (known everywhere as Nik) has been given a lucrative career in business to do something for the Asiatic peoples whom he has come to love. This former British soldier in the Indian army, veteran of the First Great War, farmer, horseman, business executive and student of world affairs, is one of the ablest and most enlightened Canadians of our time.

The government is fortunate to secure his services for he combines a knowledge of Canadian business and the peoples of Asia with an ability to get things done. Canada could not have a better ambassador in those poor and desperate countries which are hesitating in a choice between the free world and the slave.

"The people of east Asia," says Capt. Cavell, "want, even as you and I, to live without their present insecurity, hunger and back-breaking toil. We can and must do something for them. If we don't, Stalin will. It's as simple as that. We must build a bridge of understanding with them. We have never learned really to talk to them or they to us."

After many years roaming the remote places of Asia, Capt. Cavell is one of the few Canadians who can talk to these people. He has some talking to do also to Canadians if they are to realize the necessity of sparing at least a fragment of their plenty for those acres of the world which will very largely determine its future in the long run.

'Rather See Than Be'

THE RECENT DEATH OF GELETT Burgess, whose most-often quoted and least-often credited verse dealt with his assertion that he had never seen a purple cow and his preference for seeing rather than being one, brings a reminder of man's need in this regard.

At one time in man's history one could boast that he had never seen a purple cow. At another the phrase might well be considered as a hot and indignant denial. Or it could be sung with gentle whimsy, as Burgess sang it, and no great philosophical implications. But we might well consider today whether we have entered upon an age in which these attitudes are outmoded. Not an assertion, not a boast, not a denial, not a joke—our negative answer to the suggestion of a purple cow today might well be a lament. In an age of cold, hard facts; in a time when the logic of science, the harshness of materialism, the glint of chrome and the bloodless concept of the "economic man" govern our lives, there is an increasing number of people to whom the purple cow is a release and a safety valve.

The flight of wild imagination, the little dream world of fantasy, the corner of the mind in which the hopelessly illogical and ridiculous become the true and the real—these for many folk today provide the only escape. They, like Burgess, have never seen a purple cow but also perhaps like him—they are happy in the conviction that such creatures must exist. Otherwise they would have to be manufactured.

Loose Ends

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

THE IMPORTANT thing which one discovers in the wilderness is not scenery and not even rainbow trout. It is man. I am prepared to argue, indeed, that man can seldom be discovered anywhere else.

In what we laughingly call modern civilization human beings are massed for the most part in cities, but man himself is seldom to be found in the mass of men. The mass grinds down the individual lineaments, rounds off the face and character of man as the glaciers once ground the surface of the earth.

Within the flow of the human glacier no doubt many tougher stones resist the grinding. You can find individualistic men in cities if you look hard enough. But it is in the wilderness that men, free from the attrition of the mass, stand out sharply. Here, in almost every one of the few human inhabitants, a man emerges as nature roughly shaped him.

SUCH A rough-cut specimen of the human species is my new friend, Ted Helset, who lives in Wells Grey Park, among the mountains, lakes and rivers of the North Thompson country. There I recently beheld many scenic wonders but none to match this remarkable creature. He is the stuff of which epic were written in better ages but for his likes the modern world is too busy. No one will write it, but his life is a true epic on the largest and most improbable lines.

WHEN Ted was a boy in Norway (his real name he says, is too hard to pronounce) the Norseman spirit stirred in his young bones and, like his ancestors who crossed the ocean before Columbus was born, he got out for Canada, worked for $30 a month on a prairie farm, moved on to British Columbia, worked on the railways and then took to trapping.

Ted was never really interested in trapping. He was interested in escaping the confines of human society. He has escaped them. This reddish giant in his early forties has found a society in the liking among the bears, the moose and the beaver and, free of the human mass, has become one of the few whole and utterly independent men left in our time.

ONE SPEEDS up the North Thompson in a train or automobile, looks out on the dark sweep of forest and wonders how any human being can live there. Only a very tough human being can endure such a country. It is fit only for men.

A couple of winters ago Ted reached one of his trapping cabins at dusk to behold a grizzly bear climbing through the window to eat his cache of grub. The bear instantly charged at the man. Ted raised his sawed-off, thirty-inch carbine and fired his first bullet at the bear's spine, but missed it by half an inch. The second bullet bounced off the bear's skull. That left only a single bullet and the bear was now distant about six feet. Ted had one last chance and knew it. He had to bore the bear through the eye.

He waited a split second, aimed steadily and pulled the trigger. The bear dropped dead at his feet. That is how men live a few miles from the railway.

ALSO, they often die. A few years ago some city slickers threw a cigarette butt into the brush along the Clearwater River. Ted saw a blaze of a few acres as he drove to town in his truck. When he returned with the fire warden an hour later the fire had swept five miles up the valley and crossed the river. As he turned his truck around to escape, the fire crossed the road again behind him. For a whole day he lay under his truck (loaded with cans of gasoline) while his skin blistered from the flames.

That, said Ted over our discreet little camp fire, was a close thing, the kind of thing that city slickers do to the wilderness and its inhabitants.

LAST WINTER the wilderness almost got Ted. As guide to a hunting party of Americans he was working on foot through the jungle when he slipped off a windfall and broke his leg in several places. It was snowing, blowing and almost dark. In the glare of that night no one heard his three repeated rifle shots of distress. Somehow he must get out of the timber into the open country of a burn, two miles off, where the smoke of his fire might be seen.

Two miles with a broken leg and acute agony seemed too much to Ted. He considered coldly whether he hadn't better shoot himself and save a lot of trouble. After some thought he decided to live without enthusiasm.

He used his belt and shoe laces to strap some sticks to his shattered leg, he used his rifle as one crutch and cut another from a sapling. And then, for forty-eight hours, with a single orange for food, he crawled, hobbled and fell those two miles, lighting seven fires as he went.

When the hunters found him he was within a few minutes of death. That was eight months ago. On the trail today a city man cannot keep up with him and his mended leg.

SUCH STORIES as these are told slowly and grudgingly over the camp fire. You have to drag them out of Ted, who considers them hardly worth the telling. For this is the normal life of men in the wilderness, a few miles from the railway. This is where real men survive, where the mass man must surely perish. And if the mass man commits general suicide, as seems likely, the Ted Helsets of the world will still be there, ready to found a new and more durable race.

Ridgway's Patience

Montreal Star

General Ridgway's endless patience must have the Reds wondering what kind of superman they are dealing with. By an endless succession of provocative acts they have tried to get him off balance, to make him lose his head and take some step that would give them a propaganda advantage. General Ridgway's headquarters believes they may be trying to force the United Nations to break off the cease-fire talks out of sheer frustration and futility. The commander's latest suggestion should show them that he has run out of neither patience nor ideas.

From All Points Of The Compass

As Our Readers See It

100 PER CENT

I read with great interest a wonderful article by Art Stott in a recent issue of "The Times."

Mr. Stott is 100 per cent right. The city of Victoria makes its living out of tourists, most of them elderly people. There is no place of scenic beauty where they may sit.

In my home town of St. Petersburg, Florida, which is noted for its crowds of elderly people (not the sporting crowd) the city is literally crowded with benches. Will not the city of Victoria, which makes its living out of tourists, do something for them?

Mr. Perry Replies

THOUGH temporarily incapacitated, I must reply to your editorial of last Thursday as many of your readers sent it to me and urged me to answer.

Your paragraph is false which states "Mr. Perry also asks Mr. Johnson to resign." Your own news column correctly quoted me saying the Coalition government should resign. The word "coalition" is quite different to "Johnson."

You also misinterpret constitutional practice in saying "so long as any government has the support of the legislature it is obligated (repeat obligated) to govern."

All history shows this is untrue. All governments go to the country when the premier exercises his prerogative of resigning, notwithstanding such governments have the support of the legislature and always excepting in the Tolmie regime, long before their legal term of office expired.

Constitutional procedure, were Coalition to resign, would mean resignation of the entire cabinet, but precedent obli-gates the Lieutenant-Governor immediately to call upon Mr. Johnson as leader of the largest group of the legislature to form a government. It follows, that as leader of the Liberal Party, he would not shirk this responsibility and would form his ministry chiefly from Liberals, though not necessarily entirely, and carry on His Majesty's Government until the legislature meets. Whether sustained or defeated, he would make an early appeal to the country following a Liberal convention, when resolutions would create a new charter for his manifesto of policies, other parties acting similarly.

Esquimaux demonstrates the malodorous bromide of free enterprise versus C.C.F. is nauseating but it seems the present combination of political sycophants would rather continue to wallow in the same delectable trough together though it leads to destruction of their parties and of the short-sighted tycoons who support them.

Wanted: A Home Away From Home

VICTORIA has during the past years spent a great deal of money to attract tourists to the "City of Beautiful Gardens." This year it is spending considerable amount in the event of the visit of Royalty. No doubt all this is necessary—someone should admire the gardens into which so much time is tenderly put!

But exactly what money or time has been put to benefit the servicemen who roam our streets every night of the week? Certainly they do not look with too much pride at our rock gardens, however beautiful they may be. They have no place to go and sit to discuss the "little bit of old England," our beautiful parliament buildings, or even the famous rose gardens!

The Chamber of Commerce has done wonders in publicizing our climate and other Victoria attractions. The Community Chest originated a new campaign. Mrs. Green showed that Victoria had other good ideas and put them into effect—even our Miss P.N.E. outshone the Vancouver beauties. So why isn't something started for the men who are prompted to join the services to protect all this?

Many a service man coming to Victoria—especially the navy boys—heads for the Navy League or other service centre, but is unrewarded. Granted there are places in barracks for them to go, but even a Victoria boy (the same age as many of these service men) doesn't stay home all the time even if his home fronts a prize-winning flower garden.

Why isn't something done about this? Started now?

I'm sure that there would be many people who would back any project to satisfy the need if only it were started. Surely there are a few who don't spend all their time with a shovel in one hand and a watering can in the other who would have a little spare time on their hands, money in their pockets and sympathy in their hearts to help in such a project.

Couldn't you, The Victoria Daily Times, bring this matter to the attention of the "Victoria" people or to some "spirited" organization? Maybe then "people would realize "those sailors" or "those soldiers" were as human as the various high school basketball players, or hot-rod racers, and Y.M.C.A. members, and need a home away from home! Yes, it's a Female Teen-Ager!

Competition

Calgary Herald

We in Canada believe in competition, totally free competition. We depend on it to set prices at an honest level, we depend on it to determine the quality of the things we buy, and we depend on it to set the standards of service we get.

Any person or organization which deliberately contrives to kill competition while maintaining the pretence of its existence does violence not only to the consumer but in the long run to our whole concept of a free economy.

Disaster In The Middle East

By JOSEPH ALSOP from Washington

THE AMERICAN policy-makers hope that United Nations Security Council action in the Persian oil dispute will lead to a fourth resumption of negotiations between the Iranians and the British. They hope further, in whispers, that this additional gift of time will allow the government of the extravagantly irrational Dr. Mohammed Mossadeq the time it needs to hang itself. Then, they say, the Iranian problem may be solved.

Unfortunately, however, with the single exception of W. Averell Harriman's brilliant intervention, American policy-making in Iran has been a pitiful tissue of false hopes and phony assumptions ever since the real crisis there began. Certainly the time has come to face the real facts. There are two major facts that must be faced. What threatens in Iran is an unmitigated disaster. And this disaster, which most Americans comfortably dismiss as another hard knock for the British, is in fact just as much a disaster for the United States.

First, as was long ago predicted in this space, the Mossadeq government have responded to the pressure of economic and political sanctions by opening negotiations with Moscow. For the present, as in the case of Hitler and Stalin in 1939, these negotiations are ostensibly limited to renewal of a trade agreement. But Mossadeq is a cornered demagogue, who has listened to nothing but the sound of his own voice for the last 50 years. He cannot carry on the Iranian administration without cash to pay the army and the police. As he himself has said to American representatives, if he had to get that money from Moscow, "Why, so much the worse."

It is easy enough to imagine the contract for exploitation of the Iranian oil resource and oil shipments to Russia and the satellites, which will be the inevitable side deal involved in any Soviet loan or subsidy to Mossadeq.

There is no doubt at all that the Soviets can find technicians in the satellite states and elsewhere to run the Iranian oil wells and great Abadan refinery. If a Soviet-Iranian oil deal is finally made. Furthermore—and this is the key point—there is hardly more doubt that the Soviets can get the oil to Russia.

USE TANKERS

They cannot depend on the Iranian railroads, or build a pipeline overnight. But they can use tankers, and there are nearly 500 T-2 tankers under foreign registry in the world tanker fleet, as well as another 50 or more such tankers which are actually American-owned, but none the less purchasable by the Soviets. According to the best estimate, the Soviet Union can easily buy over 100 T-2 tankers on the world market, if they offer the right price.

The seriousness of this is simply illustrated. Gen. Eisenhower habitually uses the Soviet oil shortage as the first proof that Western Europe can be defended with limited forces. And the Pentagon estimates that the ending of the Soviet oil shortage will increase American defense requirements (by multiplying Russian strength) by a factor of 40 per cent or more.

Second, the State Department has been formally warned, both from Cairo and from Baghdad, that an Anglo-American show of weakness in Iran will lead to outbreaks of the same disease in Egypt and Iraq. Trouble has already started in these countries. The truth is that if Dr. Mossadeq is now permitted to triumph over the British (who symbolize the Western powers in Middle Eastern eyes) there will be an explosive chain reaction throughout the whole of the Middle East.

Third, the economic consequences of a defeat in Iran, to Britain, to the Western European, to the Indians, the Pakistanis and others, will be inevitably passed on to the U.S. in the form of requests for increased economic aid. Indeed, this is happening already.

Total, unmitigated disaster is not too strong language to describe these consequences of a failure to find or to force a solution of the Iranian problem.

Ups And Downs

By BRIAN TOBIN

I SEE," said the Elevator Man, "where a preacher in Kansas is using dolls and a knack for ventriloquism to get his message across. He finds that children listen with extra attention to his gospel stories when the dolls seem to be speaking. He says they're so impressed they never forget the lessons. That could be. Oftentimes the manner in which you hear something helps to burn it into your mind. I read once of a college professor who used to stand on his head on the desk when he gave out with some particularly important statement. He figured the students would remember the incident and also his remark. But a lot of folks likely would remember the incident and not the remark. As an investment, good advice often pays no dividends. Going down!

"It might seem," said the Elevator Man, "a little odd to learn religion from ventriloquists' dummies. But what's in the parcel is more important than the wrappings. Except in the case of fruit. There, the doctors tell us, the good is in the skin. You likely remember the story of the fella who was advised by his doc to eat more fruit. 'And be sure' and eat all the skins,' he said. 'That contains all the vitamins and virtues.' By the way, what's your favorite fruit? The patient looked pretty gloomy. 'Coconuts,' he said. Lower main!

"All in all," said the Elevator Man, "I guess we shouldn't criticize too much. The test of a vehicle is if it works, and you aren't going to complain because the lifeboat that rescues you is painted too garish a color. And in a sense, that's the business that Kansas fella is in with his dolls."

Jewish Community Observes Yom Kippur

Kol Nidre night was marked Tuesday in Temple Emanu-El as the Jewish community of Victoria observed the start of Yom Kippur, the day of atonement. Yom Kippur, which began at sundown Tuesday and lasts until sundown today, is the most solemn and sacred festival in the Jewish calendar. Services at sundown tonight at the synagogue at Blanshard and Pandora Avenue will be conducted by Cantor S. Graudens of Seattle, assisted by Cantor Jacob Narod of Victoria. Yom Kippur marks the end of 10 days of penitence, which began on Rosh Hashanan, Jewish New Year. Victoria Jews will fast today, and spend much of their time in the synagogue and will eulogize the dead.

Campbell River Reflects B.C. Industrial Growth

Development in the Campbell River area is indicative of what is going on all over British Columbia. Premier Byron Johnson said Tuesday night.

Addressing the National Office Management Association (Victoria Branch) at its first meeting this season, the Premier told of the province's great industrial expansion and dealt in particular with Vancouver Island's new industrial wealth.

He credited introduction of the forest management license plan, despite some early criticism, with enabling the new pulp industry near Campbell River to be established.

He stressed the importance of expanding the John Hart power development to 160,000 horsepower. If this isn't done, he warned, future industrial development will be held back.

Premier Johnson said natural resources are coming under the focus of big industrialists who are moving millions of dollars to develop them. Business men must encourage the development, he said.

U.S. WRITER'S VIEW

Philip Enjoys Dinner
As Elizabeth Fidgets

By MAX HARRELSON

QUEBEC (AP)—They threw a little party for Princess Elizabeth and her husband in Quebec last night and the Duke of Edinburgh thoroughly enjoyed it.

He talked almost continuously for two hours and there was not the slightest doubt that he laughed more than anybody else present.

The Princess tried hard to enjoy it, but she obviously doesn't like parties the way her handsome husband does. She fidgeted a lot and toyed restlessly with her silverware.

APPEARS NERVOUS

She kept fussing with her evening gown of silver and grey lace and tulle. Several times she pulled at the skirt to straighten its folds and twice she adjusted the dress at the shoulders.

She had some trouble getting her long white evening gloves off because of the diamond bracelets she wore over each. Somehow one of the bracelets wouldn't come off right. Twice she reached up to make sure her diamond tiara was on straight.

Elizabeth didn't touch her wine, but Philip emptied several glasses. She picked delicately at her food and didn't seem to enjoy any of it thoroughly except her consommé and trout.

There was an embarrassing moment at the beginning when she failed to touch her hors d'oeuvres. Many of the guests waited for her to start, but she kept talking and the waiters began to squirm nervously. Finally, after a huddle, one of them moved over silently and removed Elizabeth's plate. The other waiters immediately moved in and took away all the hors d'oeuvres, including those of the guests who had waited.

Press Objects
To Formality

ABOARD ROYAL TOUR PRESS TRAIN EN ROUTE TO OTTAWA (CP)—Indignant reporters at a meeting, on this press train, Tuesday night rejected an offer of three tickets for press observers at tonight's big state dinner for the royal couple at Government House in Ottawa.

They told a press relations officer to send them back to the government "with a stiff note" of objection. The press officer, who said he had tried to get more but was refused said he'd follow their instructions.

The reporters, about 50 strong and representing four countries, met in a club car on their train, soon after leaving Quebec City. There, about 15 reporters got tickets to observe a Quebec government dinner. They wore civilian clothes.

In Ottawa, the three who would be granted admission would have to wear formal clothes, would sit in a small ante-room and, once again, would have to get their own dinners before or after the event.

It took just a few unanimous minutes for the press train to reject that set-up. They thought three tickets were too few. Under it all, too, was a current of objection felt by some reporters and photographers to other aspects of the arrangements for the press—too much formality, too many restrictions.

But Tuesday night's action was the first positive kick.

Chief Fire Cause? Stovepipe!

The most costly of the common causes of fire in the home is the improperly protected stovepipe. It was revealed today by fire chiefs of Victoria and district that in 1950 ill-protected pipes topped the list blamed for a loss of $163,225 in the province. There were 1,455 fires of this type. Total fire loss was $7,052,000.

Smokers' carelessness gets the next highest damage rating, the B.C. loss hitting $127,000, with defective chimneys third, causing damage of $121,000 in 170 fires attended.

For a long time fire chiefs during fire prevention campaigns have urged parents to keep matches concealed or out of reach of children—but the provincial figure loss shows that damage from children playing with matches—last year was $69,000 from 74 fires.

COMMON CAUSES

Other "common cause" loss figures: Clothing too near stoves, 132 fires, $42,000 loss; sparks from fireplaces, 392 incidents, $34,000 loss; faulty electrical appliances, 266 fires, $24,000 loss.

Here's a tip from the fire hall: Clean out combustible rubbish from closets, attics and basements... and turn in rags, paper and old magazines for salvage.

Take great care with inflammable liquids. Never take gasoline into the home for any purpose... and instead, use non-explosive and non-burning fluids such as carbon-tetrachloride for removing spots from clothing.

And the final item on the protection program: Have your roof covering kept in a good

Has your house outgrown its insurance?
by Don Herold

Houses have been growing again—I mean in value. Is your insurance too scanty? If your house should burn down (or up) tonight, how much would it cost you to rebuild it at today's new higher building prices?

This is the way you should figure whether or not you are carrying enough fire insurance.

The same kind of thinking should be applied to the insurance on your household furnishings—and to insurance against losses of your valuables by burglary and theft.

Don't be half insured—BE INSURED!

Let us review your insurance program—NOW.

Education Is Prevention

Defend Canada from fire! Island fire chiefs have joined the heads of other fire fighting units across the country this week in the annual campaign to make the public more conscious of fire dangers and to encourage prevention.

"Carelessness and indifference to fire dangers is mainly responsible for the loss of lives and property every day in this country—bringing grief to loved ones and causing a damage bill reaching into many millions of dollars each year," said Victoria's fire chief Robert T. Brindle.

Overload Dangerous

Don't overload electrical circuits. Be sure to replace frayed cords on appliances. Have a qualified electrician make any desired alterations or additions to the electrical system in your home.

Nanaimo Milk Producers Discuss Walkout In Fight For Price Hike

NANAIMO (CP)—The milk producers of the Nanaimo district have appointed a strike committee which will investigate the feasibility of a dairymen's walkout in the fight for higher prices. Decision to form a committee was taken at a meeting here Tuesday night.

Charges of "milk bootlegging" in the Cedar district were heard. Herbert Armishaw made the charge when expressing fear that independents might move in if a "strike" was called.

Harry G. Robinson, secretary-manager of the Vancouver Island

Milk Producers, said, however, that there were few independents in the district.

Want Equal Pay

VANCOUVER (CP)—Women teachers in Vancouver's secondary schools will open a campaign Wednesday for equal pay for equal work.

The campaign will be opened with a dinner meeting expected to be attended by 300 persons.

Refuse Certification

VANCOUVER (CP)—The B.C. Labor Relations Board has turned down a bid from A.F. of L. Machinists Union for bargaining rights for 35 fitters, welders and blacksmiths in Vancouver shops because they did not consider the union an "appropriate" bargaining unit.

Dissatisfaction with the Communist leadership of Vancouver Civic Employees Union caused the men to break away to the A.F. of L. union.

Opposition to certification came from city council.

Advocate New Fund

HARRISON HOT SPRINGS (CP)—The Union of B.C. Municipalities Tuesday advocated establishment of a provincial mutual borrowing fund for public works.

In a resolution passed at the organization's annual convention here, it was suggested that directors of the proposed fund issue loans at low interest—around 2 per cent.

It was suggested this fund could be used to refinance existing municipal debts on which, in many cases, higher interest rates are charged.

The move followed a warning from Municipal Affairs Minister R. C. Macdonald against advancing money by-laws.

New Home Project

FERNIE (CP)—A bargain-basement rush for new homes started here Tuesday.

The Crow's Nest Pass Coal Company opened for inspection the first of 40 homes it is building for its employees.

Crowds lined up to inspect the house and place orders.

If employees want to buy, the price is $3,200—$500 cash and the balance at $35 a month, including principal and interest.

Labor Backs Move

VANCOUVER (CP)—Support for a city plebiscite on Sunday sports came Tuesday from Vancouver Labor Council (C.C.L.).

The council overrode the executive's advice in deciding to notify city council it favors a vote on the issue.

Hugh Allison of the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees said, Sunday entertainment was a threat to the shorter work week.

Brooks, D.S.O., Montreal, will command the unit in Korea.

workers said the council could support a "sensible" plebiscite without taking sides. He said last year's plebiscite, which turned down a suggestion for "wide-open" Sundays, including movies and horse racing, was a "farce."

The council also demanded immediate dismissal of the public utilities commission.

PUBLIC PROTEST

TUNBRIDGE WELLS, England (CP)—Projects for extending the boundaries of this Kent County town have aroused public protest on the ground that a larger town would need more industry and this would spoil the beauty of the historic resort.

Course Tells How To Spend Earnings

Money and what to do with it is always a fascinating subject. Tonight at 8, Victoria College Evening Division will open the popular "It's Your Money" course in the college auditorium, for which 70 students have already enrolled. Further registrations are being taken in the half-hour prior to the start of the first lecture.

R. F. Hassen will start the course rolling with the topic "Why Invest?" The lectures are intended to assist both large and small investors in the selection and management of their securities.

Tonight at 7.30 will also see the start of an extra to the Evening Division curriculum—"Spherical Trigonometry."

A group of officials from the B.C. Civil Service, wishing to write B.C. Land Surveyors' examinations in April, sought instruction in the subject. The course will run for 20 weeks, with G. F. Dalsin, assistant professor of mathematics at Royal Roads, instructor.

All-purpose beauty cream. For a softer, smoother, lovelier complexion, follow the Noxzema Home Facial. Morning and night, apply Noxzema. Then, with a damp cloth, "creamwash" your face just as with soap and water. Noxzema's greaseless—actually washes off with water! Use it as a make-up base. Looks so natural! And as your night cream, too!

Skin trouble relief. Noxzema is medicated, to help heal blemishes and minor skin irritations. It quickly soothes, relieves and helps heal kitchen burns... and it's grand for skin that's red, rough and painful, due to wind and weather. Women like the way Noxzema softens, smooths rough elbows and knees. See how it helps soothe and heal sore, ragged cuticle, too! Use it for all minor skin irritations.

Chapped skin. Red, rough, chapped skin is just as painful as it is common. But there's a quick relief for you and your family in your jar of Noxzema! This medicated cream quickly soothes raw, sore, chapped skin. It helps heal tiny surface cuts and cracks. It supplies a cool, protective film of oil-and-moisture to skin's outer surface. And it's greaseless!

Baby's skin. Noxzema is ideal for tender, young skin because it's so mild, yet so effective. It quickly and safely soothes and relieves rashes, painful chafing and chapped hands and face. Whenever baby's skin becomes irritated from these causes, gentle Noxzema helps him feel comfortable again—quickly. And Noxzema is greaseless—won't stain clothes. Always keep a jar in the nursery!

May Grab Chinese Ships

OTTAWA (CP)—The Ming Sung case, a hot parliamentary issue last spring, was revived Tuesday.

Officials disclosed that the Chinese shipping company is due to pay off the first instalment on a $12,750,000 government-backed loan by three Canadian banks.

The first instalment amounts to $1,275,000. If the company doesn't pay it, the money will have to come out of the federal treasury.

While officials were reluctant to discuss the case, one said that if payment is not made, the Canadian government may be forced to foreclose on the company, selling off some of its seven ships plying the Far East waters between Hong Kong and the Chinese mainland and flying the Canadian flag.

FUNDS FROZEN

Other officials said the company, which has a subsidiary firm located in Montreal, has funds in the United States, but these have been frozen by the U.S. government. If they could be released, payment could be made.

The loan was made by the banks in 1946 and guaranteed by the now defunct Nationalist government of China. When the Chinese Communists swept the mainland, the Canadian government took over the guarantee.

It granted the company the right to fly the Canadian flag, even though its officers were not British subjects as called for under Canadian transport regulations.

The issue first came to the attention of Parliament when opposition members received information from the Far East suggesting that the ships were carrying to the Chinese mainland strategic materials which Canada has been trying to keep from the Communists.

The government conceded that the materials were being carried, but said such movement did not contravene the British regulations at Hong Kong. Since then, Britain has tightened up on exports of war materials.

GIVE MARILEE BIG HAND! FIFTEEN-29

Generally it happens only once in a lifetime. And usually after a good many years of cribbage, at that . . . a limit 29-count, that is.

But Marilee Hemmingsen, 10, of Port Alberni, already has had the crib player's big thrill.

She was playing with her grandfather, M. Hemmingsen, 2795 Burdick. She beat him, too. She held three fives and the jack of clubs, and the cut was to the club five.

Her brother, John, 12, beat grandpa, as well, the veteran admits.

Victoria Realtors Travel To Quebec

Three realtors from this area will attend the eighth annual conference of the Canadian Association of Real Estate Boards in Quebec City Oct. 21 to 24.

Brig. and Mrs. F. N. Cabeldu and Mr. and Mrs. Russell Ker of Victoria, and Mr. and Mrs. Gavia Mout of Salt Spring Island will represent this district.

Brig. Cabeldu is president of the Victoria Real Estate Board, and regional vice-president for B.C. of the Canadian Association of Real Estate Boards.

Mr. Ker is second vice-president of the Victoria board.

Among the speakers scheduled to appear at the Quebec City conference are Hon. Robert Winters, minister of Resources and Development in the federal cabinet, and Hon. Maurice Duplessis, premier of Quebec.

PRAIRIE ROUND-UP

Believes Canadians Won't Stand For Rigid Price Controls Now

CALGARY (CP)—"I have yet to find anyone who wants controls applied to their own affairs," Hon. George Prudham, federal minister of mines and technical surveys, Tuesday night told members of the Calgary Junior Chamber of Commerce.

He said he did not believe the people of Canada would submit to rigid controls now.

"The vague idea seems to be to apply controls to someone else in other parts of the nation and without getting too close to home," he declared.

Prudham said that to pay for the defense program there are only a few courses open to us. One would be to increase the national production by the amount that is being spent for defense purposes. Another would be to decrease the standard of living by the same amount, or by thrift and savings, to keep the economy on a more even keel, or by a combination of all these efforts.

"To set up a system of controls in Canada," continued Prudham, "would require an army of

Gruesome Exhibits

EDMONTON (CP)—The introduction of "extremely gruesome" exhibits was protested by defense counsel at the opening Tuesday of the murder trial of Private Frederick J. Sabattis.

Sabattis, 18-year-old soldier from Kingsclear, N.B., is charged in the June 30 service-rifle slaying at Wainwright military camp of a fellow New Brunswicker, Private H. B. MacTachran of Woodstock.

Flanked by two scarlet-coated R.C.M.P. officers, Sabattis listened as his counsel, Frank Dunne, argued against the admission as exhibits of four photographs of MacTachran taken after his death.

"They are extremely gruesome and will only shock the jury," counsel said. "They are not absolutely necessary to the Crown's case."

PIMPLES?

Try these three simple steps to remove pimples from your face:

1. Wash your face with hot water at bedtime.

BEDTIME STORY

by Thornton W. Burgess

Happy Jack Squirrel, he of the grey coat and broad bushy tail, had stared unbelievably when he had first seen Fat Johnny Chuck go into the kitchen of Aunt Sally and eat breakfast with her. He had watched through the open door from the doorstep outside. Was Fat Johnny Chuck crazy? It seemed to Happy Jack that he must be.

When at last Fat Johnny came out, Happy Jack was waiting for him at a little distance from the back door. "Are you crazy?" Happy Jack demanded of Fat Johnny.

Fat Johnny put down the piece of cake he was carrying. "Not that I know of," said he. "Why?" "How dare you go inside there?" asked Happy Jack. He nodded toward the door of Aunt Sally's house.

"Why shouldn't I go in there?" asked Fat Johnny. "I get the best things to eat that I've ever tasted. I would be silly if I didn't go in there, I've never yet seen anything to be afraid of in there. I can always run out if I'm frightened."

"Just the same. I think you're crazy," declared Happy Jack, eyeing Fat Johnny's piece of cake longingly. "Supposing that door should be shut while you're in there?"

"What's the good of supposing? It never has been shut," replied Fat Johnny. He was eating that piece of cake while he talked. When he had picked up the last crumb, he went back into Aunt Sally's kitchen for another piece.

"He's crazy," muttered Happy Jack. He couldn't seem to think of anything else to say.

The next day, Happy Jack was back at the kitchen door. When he looked in Fat Johnny was not there, but another Chuck was. Aunt Sally called him Little Gentleman. After he had eaten his breakfast and gone, Aunt Sally came to the door with a piece of bread. Happy Jack wanted it, but he was still distrustful. It was a long time before he had courage to take that piece of bread from Aunt Sally's hand. After that, however, he became more trustful and did not hesitate to go to Aunt Sally's back door whenever she called him, and to take from her hand whatever she offered him. But he wouldn't go inside. He still thought Fat Johnny and Little Gentleman quite crazy when they went inside. He was trustful, but not that trustful. He didn't believe that Aunt Sally intended him any harm. He trusted her, but he was trustful with reserve. It was better to be safe than sorry.

City Chess Meet Oct. 30

At the annual meeting of the City Chess Club it was decided to accept entries for the city chess championship up to October 19, 1951.

During the meeting, Mrs. G. Marshall reviewed the activities of the past year. The new president of the club is Mr. A. G. Moody, a veteran of the club, and Mrs. J. Baine-Lewis is continuing as honorary president.

A very good entry for the tournament is indicated with such experts as J. Girvin, T. Curteis, F. Plant, Dr. Marinker, L. Hall, H. Parry, J. Lacey, G. Marshall and W. deHavilland seeking the title held by Lionel Basanta, the 1951 city champion. The tournament will commence Oct. 30. Entries may be sent to J. M. Basanta, 3017 Millgrove Street.

Hoist Hearing On Telephone Rate Hearing

VANCOUVER (CP).—Hearings on the B.C. Telephone Company's application for a rates boost was adjourned Tuesday until next Monday.

The hearings before a two-man commission from the board of transport commissioners was delayed after municipal representatives asked for more time to prepare their case.

Terence P. O'Grady, representing Victoria, said that municipalities had no time to prepare their case. Other municipal counsel took the same view.

Bengough Denies Labor's Blame For Higher Costs

WINNIPEG (CP).—Canada's spiraling cost of living is not the fault of organized workers, who must negotiate wage increases and, if necessary, justify them before conciliation board, Percy R. Bengough said Tuesday.

The president of the Trades and Labor Congress paused in Winnipeg on his way west to attend the British Columbia Civil Service Association's convention at Kamloops Oct. 18, and the Alberta C.S.A. convention at Calgary Oct. 26.

He said the congress has "hundreds" of wage agreements in effect across Canada. Generally they run for one or two years.

Persons who charge labor with forcing up living costs forget that manufacturers and retailers are not required to justify their mark-ups, Mr. Bengough said, although trade unionists must show cause for any wage increases they seek.

He said the congress is still pressing for imposition of price controls.

Cheaper vegetables would not be enough to knock down living costs, Mr. Bengough said.

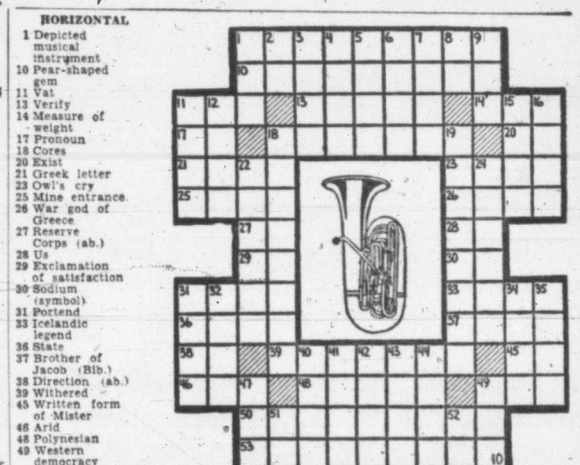

"They say carrots are good for the eyesight. You need good eyesight to look for the vanishing dollar."

Civil Defense Men Wanted; Say 'Thousands' Needed

Importance of civil defense has been stressed in a letter from Hon. Paul Martin to Victoria defense co-ordinator L. G. Hatcher. "It is a vitally important task which you have undertaken," the letter read in part, "and one which every citizen and all levels of government must wholeheartedly share."

The federal minister of health and welfare was in Victoria recently, to confer with provincial and civic civil defense officials.

Meanwhile, volunteers for civil defense training are coming forward in small numbers, Hatcher said, with a pressing need for "thousands more."

DESPITE BAD COLD

Scottish Concert Phenomenal Success

By AUDREY ST.D. JOHNSON

When half a dozen artists keep an audience of 1,400 in a sustained state of enthusiasm for two-and-a-half solid hours, critical appraisal seems almost beside the point.

Word will have already gone forth that Scotland's Star Artists, presented by St. Andrew's and Caledonian Society of Victoria in the Royal Theatre, Tuesday night, were a phenomenal success; that hundreds were turned away and that the show will be repeated by special arrangement on Thursday evening.

The group of variety performers, presenting an all-Scots program, were headed by Robert Wilson, BBC radio and television star. "The Voice of Scotland" was handicapped last night by a severe cold; nevertheless, he proved his showmanship by staying with the program exactly as scheduled and bringing to it much of the Robert Wilson of two former Victoria visits.

The rest of the company are undoubtedly top-liners in their field: Clara Kenyon, the only woman and a talented and comely one who, besides singing and playing piano accordion, draws round, rich tone and skillful effects from a brilliantly handled violin.

There is Alec Finlay, an engaging comedian and piper-extraordinary, Will Starr for whom the accordion does everything but sing Gaelic; Reg Fawing, master of several instruments; pianist Harry Carmichael and M.C. Neil Kirk.

Starr, Finlay and Wilson quickly established the mood and tone of the evening. After that, the audience was with them every inch of the way—singing, humming, shouting their laughter and enjoyment and requests for more favorite numbers.

There was corn of course, but corn served with a spicy season-

Young Star Liz Threatt 3-Way Hit

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP).—Elizabeth Threatt is a gal who doesn't fit the usual starlet pattern. She refuses to take dramatic lessons and her middle name is Coyote.

Her press agent has named her the triple-threat girl—"She sings, dances and acts," he announces gleefully. The returns are not yet in on his claim, since she is still in the middle of her first picture. Howard Hawks picked her to play the Indian girl in "The Big Sky."

Miss Threatt was a top fashion model in New York, earning up to $900 weekly. She took a financial loss to accept the Hollywood offer.

"But it was a new experience and a new challenge," she explained.

Coming to Hollywood, she put her foot down on suggestions that she study up on acting. "I think you can either act or you can't," she remarked. "If a person doesn't know enough after studying the character he has to portray, all the lessons in the world won't help."

Betty is similar to other Howard Hawks discoveries—such as Lauren Bacall. She is a statuesque five feet nine and a slim 125 pounds. She also has a low-pitched voice, which Hawks wants even lower.

WHAT, NO HOLIDAY?

Kids To Greet Royal Couple

There will be no school holiday on Oct. 22 when Princess Elizabeth and Prince Philip arrive here. Greater Victoria and district's 17,000 school children will view the royal procession in an organized body after attending morning and early afternoon classes.

J. F. K. English, chief inspector for the Greater Victoria School Board, explained the rumor-riddled situation today.

The children will greet Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh from four assembly areas, proceeding directly from their schools to the assembly points.

Transportation to the viewing areas will be provided for all children from outlying districts, such as Langford, Colwood, Melchosh and the southwestern island area, as well as the Saanich peninsula and Salt Spring Island.

Smaller children in the urban area schools will also be provided with transportation, while older classes will march to their assembly point. All children will be under the supervision of their teachers.

Plans call for the children to be in their viewing places from 2 to 3 in the afternoon of the day of the Royal tour.

The four assembly points are: 1—In Oak Bay, corner of Cadboro Bay Road and Cranmore Road. 2—In Victoria, on Yates Street near the Central Junior High School.

3—In Saanich, corner of Cloverdale Avenue and Quadra Street. 4—In Esquimalt, on Lamson Street, near the Lamson Street School.

Parents of school children are being asked to provide the younger children with small flags, in what is termed the "tent-size," in Union Jacks and Canadian Ensigns. Foreign flags will not be welcome. Mr. English indicated.

GOOD ODDS

Princess May See Sunshine

The odds are in favor of good weather on the day Princess Elizabeth and Prince Philip see Victoria.

R. A. Pennington, deputy provincial secretary, has checked over weather records at the Gonzales Observatory, and says if Oct. runs to form, there'll be no need for Victorians to bundle up in overcoats when they turn out to see the distinguished visitors. Pennington says the odds are 5-to-4 in favor of sunshine.

During 77 years that precipitation records have been kept, it has rained 41 times on Oct. 22 and it has been dry only 36 times. Mean rainfall for the day, however, has been only .07 inch.

Heavy-Handed Thief At New Post Office

If some stranger tries to sell you a few hundred pounds of lead, don't touch it—it's "hot."

A. Wols, foreman for the construction of the new Post Office building, reported to police today that someone stole 80 bars of lead from the construction scene during the night. They also made off with two wheelbarrows, probably to cart the lead away.

Date For Arena Ice Remains In Doubt

Brother Unaware Of Theft

Sgt. Jack Hamilton of the Saanich police force testified in Assize Court today that the self-confessed "cat burglar" Philip Russell had told him his brother William was unaware that the goods he gave him were stolen.

William Russell, 3235 Shelbourne Street, brother of the "cat burglar," is standing trial before Mr. Justice J. M. Coady of retaining stolen goods. The accused's brother has been sentenced to seven years in the penitentiary for stealing goods from scores of Victoria homes.

Under cross-examination by George F. Gregory, defense counsel, Sgt. Hamilton said on April 17 he went to the home of accused to conduct a search.

"Philip was present at the search," the police officer said. "He told me he had given the goods to his brother but that William was unaware they were stolen."

Sgt. Hamilton also testified that the brother of the accused had stolen many thousands of dollars of merchandise from Victoria homes. "They filled a garage," he said, "Philip was charged with theft in Victoria, Saanich and Esquimalt police courts."

Victoria Officer In Japan Hospital

Capt. Robert M. Hemmingsen of 1200 Basil, until recently serving with his regiment in Korea, is in hospital in Japan.

The young officer, well known here in military and athletic circles, was hospitalized with an attack of recurring jaundice. He was first stricken during the Italian campaigning.

Recently appointed battery commander with the 2nd Regiment, R.C.H.A., Capt. Hemmingsen had served with distinction. A letter, 12 days in transit, reached his wife and parents here Tuesday.

Spring Hearing For City Woman On Baby Death

Mr. Justice J. M. Coady today traversed the case of 23-year-old Jean Pearson of Victoria, charged with failing to obtain assistance with intent to conceal the birth of her child, to the spring sitting of the Criminal Assizes here.

His Lordship traversed the case at the request of the Attorney General's Department. Ronald Grant, defense counsel, did not oppose the request made by Crown Prosecutor A. de B. McPhillips.

The young laundry worker was acquitted last week by an Assize jury on a charge of infanticide. Jurymen, however, disagreed on a second charge against the young woman of failing to obtain assistance.

No After Shock To Earth Tremor

No additional earth shocks followed a mild tremor felt in the Victoria area Tuesday afternoon. A seismologist at the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory said today the shock felt at 3 Tuesday ranked only about 2 or 3 on the earthquake scale, which is graduated up to 8 to indicate "total destruction."

"After-shocks" are not usually felt except following a heavy quake, the seismologist said.

Welders In Brine Plant Worked Night And Day, But Coils Leak

Whether the hockey season will open on schedule Friday night will not be known until noon Thursday, arena manager Joe Dukowski said today.

Arena employees began making brine this morning despite the fact that many small leaks still exist in the coils. Everytime air was put through the pipes in tests, more leaks appeared.

"They are like a bunch of pinholes shot through the coils," said Mr. Dukowski, "but we can't stall any longer. We will try to make ice."

After working night and day, welders turned the ice-making machinery over to the arena early this morning.

If ice is made, it will be with 25 per cent of the coils gone and in spite of leaks, Mr. Dukowski said. The freezing process will be slowed as a result.

USE CRUSHED ICE - To counteract this, however, four tons of crushed ice will be put in the brine tank to get the temperature down more speedily.

Welders repaired the coils in the tank. It was then filled with water and the pipes tested by air pressure. No further tests will be made.

"We'll not drain anymore," said Dukowski. "Every time we do there are more pin leaks. We'd be here till Christmas. There's no use trying to repair the coils anymore."

"We are concentrating on getting the auxiliary tank set up."

WONT HURT TANK - When asked if using the coils in their present condition would injure the plant, the arena manager replied in the negative. He said, however, there would be certain escape of ammonia fumes throughout the building as a result of the leaks.

"We won't know until tomorrow noon whether we will be ready for hockey," he said. "All we can do now is hope we will."

Cougars are slated to play Seattle Ironmen. The game will be postponed if the arena is not ready, according to Fred Hutchinson, Cougar manager.

Release Man Held Suspect

A man suspected of being Albert Fairweather, 28-year-old Vancouver logger, wanted for the Duncan knife-slaying of Raymond Boyce, 24, of Vancouver, was released by R.C.M.P. today after he had proven his identity.

The man was taken into custody at an unnamed West Coast point. Details were not revealed. It is indicated police believe the hunted man may still be "hiding out" somewhere on Vancouver Island.

"Wanted" circulars, however, have been circulated throughout the Dominion, and U.S. authorities have been alerted to be on the lookout for Fairweather.

BREWERY EMPLOYEES APPLY FOR FORMAL STRIKE VOTE

Employees of four B.C. breweries have applied to the Labor Relations Board for a supervised strike vote.

The workers—80 of whom are employed at Phoenix Brewing Co. Ltd., in Victoria—are asking to have a ballot taken to show how they feel about strike action in support of demands for a 35-cent-an-hour wage increase. They have rejected a 25-cent boost, recommended by a conciliation board.

The Labor Board is expected to announce a vote date at the end of this week.

The three other breweries concerned are in Vancouver and New Westminster.

Shipyard Strike Brings Lay-Offs At Local Plant

The boilermakers' strike at Victoria's two shipyards entered its third week today with no hope of an early settlement.

At Yarrow's Ltd. a number of electricians working aboard the destroyer Algonquin were laid off this morning because they had caught up with work in hand. Although there is still much electrical work to be done aboard the ship, it hinges on strike-bound riveting and welding work.

H. A. Wallace, managing director of the company, said the men had been laid off "with reluctance." There was no alternative, he explained.

H. S. Hemmell, general manager of V.M.D., said his company had enough work on hand to keep all working tradesmen going "for a time yet."

Boilermakers continue to picket both plants. The picket lines are not trying to discourage non-strikers from entering the yards.

STRIKERS GET AID - John Meadley, president of the striking boilermakers, confirmed the union is to receive aid from the International Brotherhood of Boilermakers, Iron Shipbuilders and Helpers of America, A.F.L.

He revealed the local shipyarders voted last Sunday to reaffiliate with this strong international, which has a total membership on North America of about 200,000.

Meadley said the vice-president of the international, H. Gomm, would fly to the coast later this week to study the strike situation.

Marks, Not Itches, Cured With This Scratch Stick

By PENNY SAVER

They call it a scratch stick. The only thing is, if you have an itch it won't help you, a bit! Tell you what it will do, though. It will remove scratches on wood in a twinkling, if not sooner.

My Mom, she's a good kid, but she has a cute trick of sitting down on our best chairs and marking them with a dress that buttons at the back.

Being heart-broken at such a thing happening she mentioned it to my sister.

In typical daughter fashion sister said, "Oh! Mother!" Then grinned and said, "I have just the thing you need."

Evidently she had marked her dining room table quite badly and after inquiring around had learnt about the magic oil stick that makes the marks vanish.

"Really Mother," my sister said, "You'll be amazed at the results."

Dear old Mom fairly jumped for joy. It seems the rest of the family had the happy knack of marking up things, but never

Mom. This was her passport out of the dog house.

She was quick to use it on the chairs, but that lead to a general touch-up job on all the furniture.

If you do this, you'll be absolutely floored at the difference, and a bit ashamed of the marks you've overlooked for so long.

The wonderful part of it all is that you don't need your engineer's papers to get results. You simply touch the injured spot with the brush and it will disappear instantly.

It is a double end affair so far bare edges you use the stain crayon and for deep scratches or spots requiring stain, use the crayon first, then the oil brush.

You will find the scratch remover works on oak, mahogany, walnut or any other wood, and the price is only 70 pennies.

WHY GROW OLD?

Enriched White Bread Equal To Whole Wheat In Nutrition

For some time now nutritionists have been impressing us with certain important rules to follow in choosing the food we eat. (If we hope to have vibrant health and prolonged youthfulness.) We have been told to eat as many foods as possible in their natural form and to avoid the devitalized refined foods.

I feel sure that many housewives have been as confused as I when it comes to a choice between whole wheat bread and white bread. Until rather recently whole wheat bread contained constituents which white bread did not have, because in milling white flour, the health-vital part of the wheat was lost.

For many years now the milling industry has been a leader in the enrichment of white bread, in replacing these health-giving vitamins. Actually outside of this interest in public health the miller cares little whether he mills white flour or whole wheat flour, except for one reason.

Even with the abundant health education available, the public, as a whole, has not been sold on whole wheat bread. About 38 per cent of the flour used is white flour. Therefore, the answer lies in enrichment of white flour. Today this is standardized according to the National Research Council's dictates and the thiamine, riboflavin, niacin and iron content of white bread approximates that found in whole wheat bread.

Whole wheat bread presents a more complicated problem. In a "Digest of Federal and State Requirements for Flour and Feedstuffs" it says, "Whole wheat flour; the proportions of the natural constituents of such wheat, other than moisture, remains unaltered." However, do not be misled by thinking that you are buying 100 per cent whole wheat bread when you purchase dark bread. The loaf may contain only a small percentage of whole wheat flour.

The American Baker's Association is making an earnest effort to standardize whole wheat bread, so that you will know what you are getting when you buy it. It seems probable that the food and drug administration may issue these at some near date, I hope so.

In the meantime it will be a relief to many wives and mothers who have been forcing whole wheat bread down the mouths of their family when the members prefer white bread, to know that they can relax on this issue.

If you would like to have my leaflet No. 38, "Vitamins on Your Budget" send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for it. Address Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

MONTREAL, Oct. 11th — Exercise is good for all of us... an evening of bowling or ballet or badminton. But most of us don't get enough of it to avoid the aches 'n' pains of sore muscles afterwards. That's why I always like to have a bottle of SLOAN'S LINIMENT in the house. It does offer the most wonderful relief from pain caused by strains, sprains or stiffness. It eases the aches of neuralgia and rheumatism, too. There's no rubbing with Sloan's. Just put it on and its gentle warmth quickly sinks deep down in and relieves the pain. Sloan's Liniment is very reasonable in price — just 46¢ for the smallest bottle — 90¢ for the large. Pick up a bottle next time you're in your drugstore.

It's The Greatest Sale Of The Year... and it starts next Monday night in your neighbourhood branch of the B of M. It's the new issue of Canada Savings Bonds... and, believe me, with the new interest rates, these savings bonds are a better bargain than ever before. As my BANK OF MONTREAL manager explained to me yesterday, by holding on to your bonds till maturity you earn the very healthy interest rate of 3.21%... and the instalment plan makes them so much easier to buy. Imagine, only $2.50 is required, with the balance over a year. For as little as $2.50 you can make the down-payment on an attractive investment and help to keep the lid on inflation. Needless to say, most of the money earmarked in my Personal Planning programme for savings will go straight into Canada Savings Bonds. Next Monday give a helping hand to yourself and your country... buy Canada Savings Bonds at "My Bank."

Over Phones and garden fences women are talking about this instant coffee. Mary said to me the other day, "I got a real kick out of Chase & Sanborn's Instant Coffee."

Yes, INSTANT CHASE & SANBORN COFFEE is good! That's because it's the instant coffee made by real coffee people... the only instant backed by over 85 years of coffee experience. Mmmm — just taste! You'll see... the flavour's there — and the body — and the real lift! So for your between-chores cup of coffee tomorrow — try Instant Chase & Sanborn. So-o-o-o good — and you can make one cup at a time so there's no waste of this good, good coffee! I'd suggest you get a jar of Instant Chase & Sanborn today!

No Wonder they call it "Canada's Wonder Paint"

Even I can do a smooth, as-satin "paint job" with GLIDDEN SPREAD SATIN! You see, Spread Satin has a synthetic rubber emulsion base that gives it a smooth, velvety finish no matter what you do... and also makes it completely washable — (such a good thing in an indoor paint)!

What's more, Spread Satin dries in 20 minutes and actually has a pleasant odour when drying! The colours are wonderful, too — you'll find the very one you want! Be sure to order early from your Glidden dealer!

There's Twenty-four Years difference between Mrs. Harold D. Baker and her daughter, Betty. But to look at them you'd think they were sisters! What is Mrs. Baker's secret? She would tell you that it's no secret... that her most valuable cosmetic is WOODBURY FACIAL SOAP. For Woodbury is more than a cleanser. It's made by skin scientists who add an emollient face cream ingredient to every cake of Woodbury. Woodbury softens delicate skins. Its rich cream ingredient is intended to help replace the natural oils you wash away! So take a tip from Mrs. Baker and her fair-skinned daughter... start Woodbury Facials today! Get the big Beauty-Bath Size for all-over loveliness.

Is Your Welcome Mat Always Out...

Out... your home always bright 'n' shining — ready for even unexpected guests? You'll never be caught with a home in need of cleaning when you houseclean the wonder-working way — with C-I-L SPONGES. Yes, C-I-L Cellulose Sponges do just about every job you can think of... from washing walls, windows and woodwork — to waxing floors and polishing furniture. Soft as velvet when wet, C-I-L Sponges are kind to your hands and the finest finishes. They're long-lasting — and so easy to keep clean. Ask for C-I-L Sponges — there's a handy size for every purpose — at grocery, drug, variety, hardware and department stores. The C-I-L label is your assurance of quality!

Sue Takes Over in the kitchen when any one of the luscious HEINZ SOUPS is scheduled for dinner. Sue, a young Sue's so eager to eat 'em, she wants to get in on the cooking part, too, to hurry it up! So easy to prepare, Heinz Condensed Soups are a first course! — just add water or milk and heat. But don't serve these "flavour-ites" as a first course only. Serve them in casseroles — meat loaves — dressings or rarebits. There's such a versatile variety to choose from! I've proved to myself time and time again that Heinz Condensed Soups are the perfect bases for so many tempting, time-saving dishes! And of course, I know they're good because they're Heinz!

No Wonder Everyone's Talking about that delicious main-course dish — KRAFT DINNER. It's a nutritious macaroni-cheese combination that cooks to tasty lightness in only 7 minutes! Yes, it's certain easy to prepare — ideal for unexpected guests and before-the-movies dinners. But one of the things I like most about it is its real economy. One package of "Kraft Dinner" contains enough for a main dish for four... at just a few pennies a serving... You'll find several helpful suggestions for delicious main dishes on the "Kraft Dinner" package — and my suggestion is... ask your grocer for "Kraft Dinner" next time you shop!

Good Gravy doesn't just "happen" as I'm sure you know. But good cooks agree with me that there's one way to be sure of gravy goodness — always. That's by making your gravy with BOVRIL. Bovril adds a meaty, hearty flavour that's a real delight. I use it in soup stock, as a seasoning for cheese, a sandwich spread, in stews or casseroles. It's such a flavourful way to s-l-p-e-d-e-h that budget — for just a little of the beef-iness of Bovril goes a long, long way. You'll never buy beef goodness more cheaply than Bovril — so ask your grocer for Bovril today — in three handy forms — Cordial, Cube make — Bovril makes it better!

It's A Funny Thing how habit gets us into the groove when it comes to shopping. And it works both ways. It's a good habit to keep on buying a satisfactory product... but only if it isn't a "blindfold" that keeps you from buying something better! Take tissue handkerchiefs for example — I was happy enough with my old familiar brand until I tried FACE-ELLE. What a difference! Yet it's not costing me a cent more per box to enjoy the extra comfort that goes with Face-ELLE's exquisite softness and absorbency. You'll like the extra strength too when you get 3-ply cushioned Face-ELLE in the pink box. So make it a habit to ask for Face-ELLE and enjoy the luxury of better tissue handkerchiefs as your reward for think-before-you-buy shopping!

Riding Club Treasure Hunt

The newly-formed Victoria Riding and Gymkhana Club held their first grand treasure hunt from their club grounds on Cedar Hill Cross Road on Thanksgiving Day.

Twenty-four riders participated in the hunt, which led them through wooded trails and open fields in Gordon Head.

The riders gathered at the clubhouse later, where tea was served and prize presentation held. His Honor, the Lieut.-Governor, honorary president of the club, presented the prize to the winner, Miss Vivian Andrews.

Fieldmaster of the club, Mr. Nick Banton, who arranged all the details, announced that a ride is being held this coming Saturday, at 2.30, from the club grounds.

Following a five-month visit in Kent, Eng., with her sister, Mrs. John Wood, Lady Drayton has now returned to the city and is staying at the Empress Hotel.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Smalley have returned to "Aldourie," their Island Highway home, after spending a month in Spokane.

Mrs. C. A. Rigler from Poole, Dorsetshire, Eng., arrived on the R.M.S. Nova Scotia to visit her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Mortimore, Langford Lake.

Mrs. A. Hart, Mr. Ted Hart and Mr. and Mrs. A. Young of this city were in Kamloops recently for the marriage of Miss Joan Alma Corbould and Mr. Francis Lundy Sanderson.

CPO. Reg Skinner and Mrs. Skinner and children, Betty Anne, Susan and Janice, formerly of Cornwallis, N.S., are staying with Mr. and Mrs. Ritchie Levesque, Leigh Road, Langford Lake, prior to living near Royal Roads.

Out-of-town guests attending the wedding of Agnes Eleanor Williamson and Angus James Geyer, Saturday evening, were Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Geyer, Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. John C. Bigelow and Mrs. E. D. Plummer, all of Aberdeen, Mr. and Mrs. M. F. Prehn, Port Angeles; Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Moir, Misses Alice and Margie Moir, Centralia; Mrs. Harvey LaBranche, Portland; Mrs. Wallace Barker, Vancouver, Wash.; Mr. and Mrs. John Williamson, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Davison, Vancouver; Mr. and Mrs. John Barton, Port Alberni, and Mr. and Mrs. James Milburn, Northfield.

Mrs. Anna Ball, Venture Apartments, has her sister, Mrs. Carol Neely, and Mrs. R. Lowe, both of Winnipeg, as her guests for a few days. The visitors plan to stay in Seattle and Vancouver before returning to their home.

Sgt. Thomas Lee and Mrs. Lee with their two children, Darleen and Sandra, who came from Trenton, Ont. to visit Mrs. Lee's parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Dopp, Oliver Street, have now continued their journey to Vancouver where Sgt. Lee has been transferred to Jericho Beach.

Between Ourselves

By ELIZABETH FORBES

Different colors, we are told, affect us in different ways. One color may make us sad, a second, thoughtful. A color tone may quiet our nerves, another may excite and stimulate.

If this is true, then on the Hope-Princeton Highway at present you'll find the best little pick-up-upper, in the color world.

From Hope to Princeton there is a riot of color in all the many shades of autumn's golds, reds and bronzes.

It looks as if a giant paint brush had been at work. In a hurry, perhaps. Mixing colors as only Mother Nature would approve. But creating an unforgettable picture that extends from the roadside, along the streams and up the mountain sides as far as the eye can see.

From Hope to the summit in Allison Pass the vine maples and the Oregon grape are decked in brightest reds and bronze greens.

Over the summit are the cotton woods, their every leaf turned to brightest gold.

Down Princeton way where the road follows the Tulameen and the Similkamee rivers, there are the aspens, alders and willows, in paler green and gold. Follow the road to Hedley and you'll find the sage brush, touched with yellow bloom and the sumac, crimson red.

If you're tired, dispirited, in need of a tonic, cross to the mainland this weekend. Take your own car, ride in a bus, thumb a ride, peddle a bicycle, but make it the Hope-Princeton Highway. It's worth it!

A bus driver, named Fraser, who crosses and recrosses the summit many times in a month sums it up as "the finest route in the world."

He likes the autumn colors but he insists that to see the highway best you must travel the road on a winter night when the moon is full and there is a sprinkling of snow on the trees. "You'll wish the trip would never end," he says.

From a bus driver that is mighty high praise!

An heirloom gown, worn by a tiny principal, on christening day, forms a link between the present and the past.

The baby does not realize it but he or she is making history. Continuing a family tradition.

The nine-week-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Terrence R. Barbour, Burdett Avenue, will do just that next Sunday, when she receives the names Grace Gay Marie, at a ceremony in Metropolitan United Church with Dr. A. E. Whitehouse officiating.

The baby girl will wear an heirloom broderie-Anglais christening robe which was worn by her great-great-grandmother.

And her paternal grandmother, Mrs. M. C. Barbour, has come all the way from Northern Ireland, to be present at the ceremony.

There will be a christening-tea later in the afternoon at the home of the baby's maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred H. Adams, Beach Drive.

Some day, baby Grace Gay Marie will be told the story of the heirloom gown and the christening ceremony. And she will carry on the tradition in future years.

Navy League Chapter, I.O.D.E., Friday at 2, headquarters.

Sir Matthew Baillie Begbie Chapter, I.O.D.E., knitting meeting, at home of Mrs. J. E. Flack, 1265 Oscar Street, Friday instead of Thursday.

Nursery School Association of Victoria, Friday at 8, St. Christopher School, 2629 Currie Road, Oak Bay. Speaker, W. H. Gaddes, assistant professor of psychology, Victoria College. Subject: "Help in Understanding Your Children." Discussion will follow.

Autumn Bridal Couple

Leaving the Victoria Truth Centre following their recent marriage are Mr. and Mrs. Gene Elvin Field. Mrs. Field, the former Hilda Edith Colebourne, daughter of Mrs. J. W. Rawlinson, Quadra Street, will join her husband in San Diego early in the new year. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Field, San Antonio, Tex. Rev. E. Smiley officiated at the ceremony.

Jubilee Graduate Married At Ceremony In Kamloops

Joan Alma Corbould, a graduate of the September, 1951, Royal Jubilee Hospital School of Nursing, became the bride of Francis Lundy Sanderson, Kamloops, at a recent ceremony in St. Paul's Cathedral, Kamloops.

Rev. James Jolly heard the nuptial vows of the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. B. Corbould, Kamloops, and the son of Mr. F. L. Sanderson, Kamloops.

Mr. Corbould gave his daughter in marriage, and Miss Joan Northcott, Vernon, a fellow graduate, sang "My Prayer," during the signing of the register.

Nylon marquisette, embellished with lily of the valley pattern created the exquisite wedding gown. The bride's full length veil of illusion net was caught in a tangle of pearl and brilliants.

Her bouquet was talisman roses, lily of the valley and heather with white streamers.

The bride's twin sister, Margaret Corbould, was maid of honor. She wore a gown of rose taffeta and carried a bouquet of bronze and white chrysanthemums. There were four bridesmaids.

Miss Joan Challoner, Victoria, a fellow graduate, was groomed in lavender blue taffeta; Solveig Mork, Prince Rupert, also a fellow graduate, in emerald green gown; Wineva Sanderson, Kamloops, sister of the groom, was groomed in gold, and Pat Corbould, sister of the bride, also chose emerald green. They all carried complementing colonial bouquets.

Ted Hart, Victoria, was best man, and ushers were Ted Parker, Ian Gilmour, Ingvar Klett and Brian Corbould, all of Kamloops.

Upon leaving for her honeymoon motoring through the Okanagan, Mrs. Sanderson wore a navy and white check suit with white and navy accessories and a corsage of talisman roses.

The newlyweds will live in Kamloops.

Institute Banquet
A candlelight banquet, with television show and games, was held recently by Victoria Women's Institute drama group at the Olde English Inn. The drama group will continue their regular meetings.

Victoria Women's Institute will hold a social at the Y.W.C.A. at 2.30 on Friday. Aprons modeled by the makers will be judged. Mrs. N. Brown will convene this part of the program, while tea will be served by Mesdames B. Macro, E. Thomas, A. Robinson and T. J. Sadler.

OFFICIALLY COLORS ARE GREEN, GREY

QUEBEC (CP)—"An olive green crepe tucked dress." That, girls, is what Princess Elizabeth wore yesterday when she and the Duke of Edinburgh opened their Canadian tour here.

Furthermore, "olive green crepe tucked dress" is official, a description given right from the Royal party itself.

The announcement put an end to disagreeing descriptive on the part of various reporters and self-styled fashion experts who recognized the Princess' dress as green but were willing to deviate to the point of terming it "moss green" and even "silver spruce."

Officially, here's what she wore last night at the state dinner given by the Quebec government:

"A grey silver lace and tulle evening dress with very full skirt; garter star and ribbon; tiara and diamond necklace."

Until the official announcement nobody in Quebec seemed quite in agreement on what the Princess wore.

Alderman Christie To Open Bazaar

Fall bazaar of Capitol City Temple No. 35, Pythian Sisters, will be opened by Alderman Margaret Christie on Saturday at 2.30.

Mrs. Bessie Palmer, general convenor, will be assisted by Mesdames E. Sommerville and K. Brown.

In charge of stalls will be Mrs. E. Cruickshanks, woollens and children's wear; Mrs. F. DeCorte, fancywork, toys and novelties; Miss A. Betts, aprons; Mrs. P. Colbert, home cooking; Mrs. M. Edwards, plants, flowers and vegetables; Mrs. D. Kirkpatrick, superfluities; Mrs. V. Bayley, candy; Mrs. L. Moulton, tombola; Mrs. E. Whitmore, publicity; Mrs. G. Hesse, tea; Miss M. Kinsey, musical selections.

Mrs. Lucy Keiser and Mrs. Chris Stewart will receive guests and Mrs. E. Glover and Mrs. H. Atkinson will preside at the tea table.

Book Report—At the recent meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary to Metropolitan United Church, Mrs. J. Jones spoke on a book entitled, "The Life of Christ," written by Charles Dickens for his own children and not published until quite recently.

Mrs. A. M. Holder presided and Mrs. Eric Humphreys reported on the bazaar to be held in November.

Elizabethan Gown Worn By Recent Autumn Bride

A white brocaded satin gown in Elizabethan style was worn by Doreen Gladwin Jasper when she exchanged nuptial vows with Alexis Henry Sutcliffe in St. Andrew's Cathedral recently.

Father D. LeHane officiated. Parents of the bride are Mrs. Charles Jasper, Heron Street, and late Mr. Jasper, and parents of the groom are Mrs. Alice Sutcliffe, Seymour Street, and late Mr. Sutcliffe.

Tall standard baskets filled with white chrysanthemums decorated the church. Miss M. MacKay played organ music and Miss L. Hanley sang, "Ave Maria."

Monty Jasper gave his sister in marriage.

A stand-up collar accented the fitted bodice of the gown and the sheath sleeves came to a lily-point. The bouffant skirt was complemented by a full-length veil which fell in graceful folds from a crown of seed pearls and brilliants. She carried a bouquet of red roses and white stephanotis.

Mrs. Grace Boyd, Vancouver, was matron of honor. She chose a gown of yellow nylon over taffeta and carried a bouquet of mauve chrysanthemums. Little flower girl, Cheryl-Ann Watson, was gowned in green nylon over taffet and her bouquet matched the matron of honor's.

John Leahy attended the groom and ushers were Douglas George and John Newman.

A three-tier wedding cake topped by a china angel, which also decorated the bride's parents' cake, centred the bridal table at the reception in Old England. The cake was embedded in pink tulle and also decorating the table were lighted candles in silver candlebras and bowls of white and pink chrysanthemums. Jesse Evans proposed the toast.

A dusky rose boucle knitted suit and matching camel hair coat with brown accessories was worn by the bride when she left for her honeymoon motoring to Mt. Hood and Portland. She complemented the ensemble with a brown orchid.

Silver tea—Women's Auxiliary, No. 65, Typographical Union No. 201, recently held a silver tea at the home of Mrs. T. Fawcus. Mrs. E. Drysdale, who presided, was presented with a 25-year membership pin and corsage on behalf of the organization. Next meeting to be Thursday at 2.15 in Y.W.C.A.

For her honeymoon, up-island she topped her wedding ensemble with a grey Chinese kidskin coat.

New Members—Mesdames B. Doddridge, E. Priddle, A. McIlroy and Miss V. Carlisle were initiated at regular meeting of Princess Patricia Lodge, No. 238, Daughters of St. George, held in K. of P. Hall, Cormorant Street. Mrs. M. Bentham presided and arrangements were made for the annual fall bazaar, in K. of P. Hall on Nov. 2. A mock auction will be held at next meeting on Oct. 19 when members will bring articles for bazaar.

Would you drive 745 feet at 40 m.p.h. blindfolded? ?

An improperly aimed headlight can blind the driver of an oncoming car for 12 seconds. At 40 miles per hour he would travel 745 feet without sight!

Tip: For safety's sake—and courtesy's, always let us check your headlights, backing lights and tail lights, too.

Red Carpet For Royalty City Craft

A special run to get the exact "rich, red shade" required for the Royal carpet will be made Thursday afternoon at the Columbia Carpet Co. here.

About 600 yards, including the 100 needed for the reception of Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh at City Hall, will be manufactured and specially dyed.

Interested onlookers will be 25 members of the Vancouver Island branch of the Purchasing Agents' Association of B.C., who will tour the plant and view the special run, according to Gerald Sharpe, president, who arranged the visit.

The company did not have the shade of red needed, but as other organizations required the carpeting a special run was arranged, according to Mr. Sharpe.

An assistant professor in the Department of Geology and Geography, U.B.C., Dr. J. R. MacKay, will speak on "Formosa" at the Oct. 15 meeting of the University of Extension Association of Victoria at the Victoria College-Normal School auditorium. The meeting will start at 8.15. Dr. MacKay will deal with the past history of Formosa, present issues and its role in relation to the rest of the world in the future.

REAL HOLLYWOOD TYPE

Philip Makes Hit With Ladies

By ELIZABETH TOOMEY

QUEBEC CITY, Que. (U.P.)

A pretty blonde bank teller from New Brunswick drove 200 miles and stood willingly in one spot for three hours just to get a glimpse of the Duke of Edinburgh.

Not that she didn't think the Princess was lovely, she hastily explained, leaning against the hotel lobby entrance in Quebec where she had stationed herself at 5.30 a.m. to be sure to see the Royal couple enter for the state banquet Tuesday night.

But everybody back home thinks the Duke is very cute, she said, don't you?

Just then motorcycles roared past the entrance and a long black car pulled up at the curb, so no answer was necessary. Prince Philip, blond and handsome, stepped out of the car in white tie and tails.

ENJOYS HIMSELF

It was the first civilian outfit Canadians had seen Philip wear, since he has been in his lieutenant-commander's uniform each day. As he strode through the hotel lobby with his hands clasped behind his back, apparently enjoying his chat with the official escorting him, the admiring bank teller, who by this time was getting a final peek at the Prince by sticking her head between two white-helmeted policemen, murmured, "my, isn't he good looking."

The 30-year-old Prince is handsome enough to be a hit in any country. If he hadn't decided to be a Prince he might have made a nice living in Hollywood, say the Gregory Peck type of personality.

He seems perfectly at home in the difficult role handed him as husband of the future Queen of England. While Elizabeth is inclined to look straight ahead much of the time, with occasional glances at either side, her husband turns his head and looks sharply, and with frank curiosity at the faces and scenery around him. He lounges comfortably back in the straight chairs provided for them during some of the ceremonies too, a neat trick in one of those throne-like seats.

Elizabeth Reviews Army Brigade Bound For Europe

By DOUG HOW
Canadian Press Staff Writer

QUEBEC (C.P.)—On the great meadow where Wolfe won a half-continent for the throne she may inherit, Princess Elizabeth reviewed Canada's 27th Brigade Tuesday and wished its soldiers good luck in Europe.

This colorful, even brilliant, ceremony on the Plains of Abraham turned out to be the farewell parade of the formation that will soon move to Germany to represent Canada in an Allied military wall thrown up against a foe such as Wolfe could never have conceived.

It was the cap to a day that gave the heiress presumptive a look at a cross-section of the expanding Canadian Army and at men who, within a matter of months, will be serving not only in Europe but in Korea as well.

On arrival here, Princess Elizabeth reviewed a paratroop company from the 1st Battalion of the Royal 22nd Regiment, slated to go to Korea next spring. A few hours later she was inside the grey stone walls of the fortress called the Citadel, reviewing the part-time reserve force unit, Regiment de Chaudiere, of which she is colonel-in-chief.

But neither of these ceremonies could match the spectacle that unfolded before possibly 15,000 persons on the Plains of Abraham in mid-afternoon. The people lined the ropes on the rim of the vast field. Overhead the sun beat its way through the clouds. A boisterous wind chilled the soldiers as they stood in ranks for more than half an hour waiting for the Royal couple to arrive. A band played. There were 1,500 of the 6,000-odd men in the brigade on parade, divided into the three infantry battalions. On the right flank, a vivid sea-of-color, was the 1st Infantry Battalion with its new scarlet berets; in the centre was the Highland Battalion, its officers sporting the kilt of five different regiments. On the left flank was the Rifle Battalion, wearing green berets.

Under the command of Brigadier Geoffrey Walsh, they first gave the Princess, standing on a platform 50 yards from them, the Royal salute. Then she motored among their ranks in a white jeep with Prince Philip and Brig. Walsh in the seat behind her.

Ninth Inning Raily Choked

NEW YORK (AP)—New York Yankees won their third straight world series under manager Casey Stengel today by defeating the New York Giants 4-3 on Hank Bauer's 400-foot triple with the bases loaded in the sixth inning. The victory gave the American Leaguers a 4-2 edge in games for their 14th championship.

Bauer's blow with two out ended the Cinderella saga of the Giants, who came from 13½ games back of the Brooklyn Dodgers to win the National League pennant in a three-game playoff.

Big right hanger Vic Raschi, Yankee starter, was the winning pitcher although not around at the finish. He was replaced by Johnny Sain in the seventh who in turn gave way to Bob Kuzava in the ninth when the Giants put on a desperate rally to score two runs and leave the tying runner on second.

Appeal Sentence

VANCOUVER (CP)—An appeal will be made to the Minister of Justice for a life sentence for Francis Stephen Sykes, 17-year-old Mission, B.C. youth under sentence of death.

He has been sentenced to die Dec. 11 for the sex-slaying of 13-year-old Laura Grant in a cow pasture Sept. 29, 1950.

Explosive Fire

COROVIA, Alaska (AP)—A spectacular fire, spreading with explosive force, destroyed three buildings in the Cordova business district today.

Unofficial estimates of the loss ran to $500,000.

Flames swept through the buildings in a matter of minutes after the fire was discovered.

P.M. Was Absent

OTTAWA (CP)—Princess Elizabeth and Prince Philip drove up to Canada's Parliament Buildings today expecting to find Prime Minister St. Laurent waiting on the steps.

But he wasn't there.

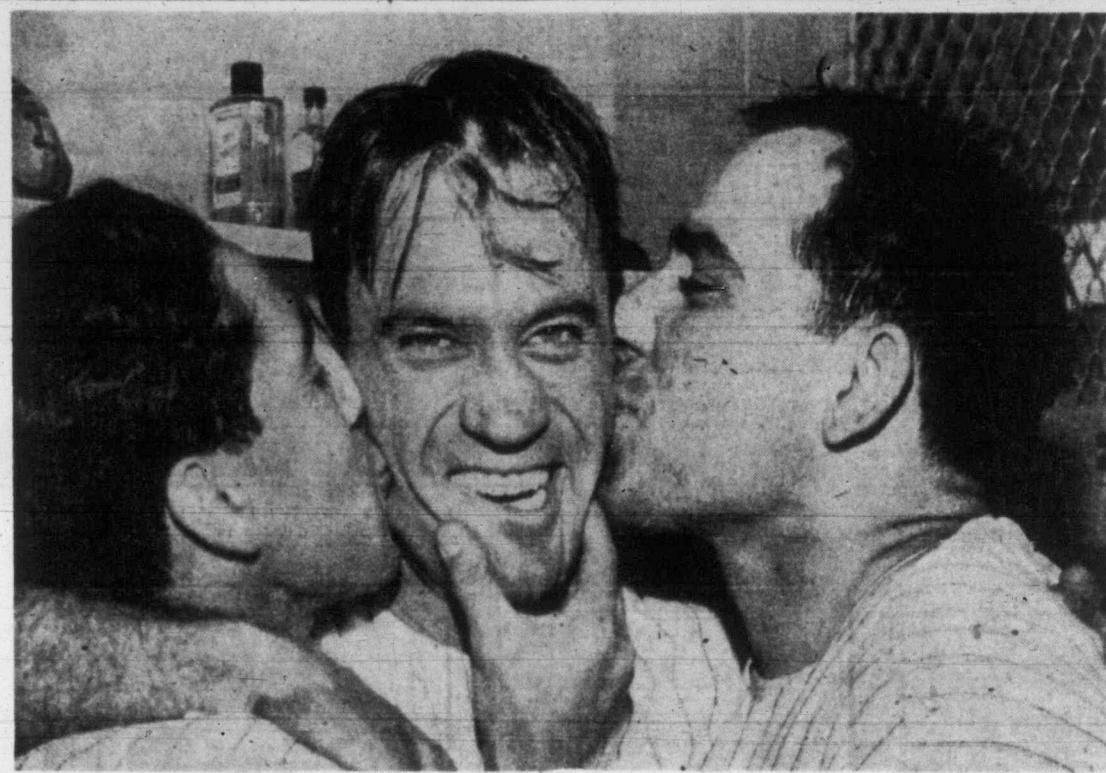

The fact was the Princess and the Duke were 10 minutes early arriving on the Hill from their visit to Hull, across the Ottawa River from the capital.

Huge Radar Net Guards Canada, U.S.

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—A network of the largest radar systems ever produced has been installed by the United States air force to guard the United States and Canada against air attack, the General Electric Company said today.

The company said that it had filled the air force order for the radar systems and that they were the most complex yet to be turned out.

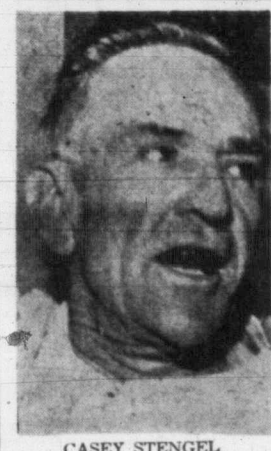

The installations are the major "posts" in a radar fence for the United States and Canada, the announcement said.

CASEY STENGEL

Drastic Law Planned To Prune Costs

OTTAWA (CP)—The government has unveiled an anti-inflationary weapon for the fall session of parliament—new combines laws to provide more competition and force prices down.

The disclosure came yesterday as the fourth session of the 21st parliament was prorogued and the fifth session formally opened.

In the speech from the throne, outlining the government's legislative program, it was indicated there will be no outright price controls.

But the speech said concern of the people over rising living costs is fully shared by the government and action will be taken to ban the practice by which manufacturers set the retail prices of their products.

The new laws will be based on a preliminary report by a special committee which has been studying the problem of inflation for more than a year. The report recommended that supplies of goods should be prohibited for "requiring or inducing distributors to resell such goods at fixed or minimum resale prices."

A government spokesman said such action, creating greater competition among retailers, could push prices down before Christmas if parliament acted immediately.

Another major disclosure in the speech was the first concrete legislative move toward construction of the vast, $700,000,000 St. Lawrence Seaway was a purely Canadian project if joint Canada-United States action is not approved. A federal agency—probably in the form of a Crown company responsible to parliament—will be formed to handle details of the project.

It also was disclosed that arrangements have been completed with the province of Ontario regarding power development in the international section of the St. Lawrence River and the division of costs between the province and the appropriate United States authority—probably the state of New York. Ontario cost is estimated at $200,000,000.

TIMES WILL GIVE PRIZES FOR BEST ISLAND SNAPSHOTS OF ROYAL PAIR

Amateur photographers who will be taking snapshots during the Vancouver Island visit of Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh have a chance to turn their hobby into cash.

The Victoria Times today announced a contest for photos taken during the royal stay on the island.

It is open only to amateurs. Prizes will be $25 for the best photo taken, $10 for second and $5 for third. The winning pictures will be published in the Times.

Any shot associated with the royal visit may be entered. They will be judged for newsworthiness and clarity.

The three judges of the best pictures will be Stuart Keate, publisher of the Times, William Halkett of the Times photo department, and Lance Wilson, head of the engraving department.

Pictures must be taken between the time the royal couple arrive here on Sunday afternoon, Oct. 21, and Friday morning, when they leave Nanaimo for Vancouver.

Entries must be in standard black and white photos, printed on glossy paper no smaller than five by seven inches, accompanied by negatives.

UN Tanks Crush Reds; New Truce Site Picked

No Indication Time Set To Restart Talks

MUNSAN, Korea (AP)—Liaison officers today picked a site near Panmunjom for resuming Korean truce talks.

The spot is six air miles southeast of Kaesong, where cease-fire negotiations first began three months ago today. The talks were broken off by the Communists Aug. 23.

Another meeting of Allied and Red liaison officers at Panmunjom was scheduled for 10 a.m. tomorrow.

There was no immediate announcement of when the armistice delegations would re-open their talks—or even whether the time had been set.

Preparations for a meeting of the full delegations were pressed rapidly. The United Nations' truce team assembled in Korea. Everything indicated the U.N. command expected an early resumption of full-scale efforts to end the shooting.

Fire Destroys Circus

VENICE (Reuters)—Fire Tuesday night destroyed the Togni circus, one of the best-known in Italy. Circus animals, singed and terrified, were dragged to safety. There were no reports of casualties.

ELIZABETH ON AIR TONIGHT

Princess Elizabeth, at 6 p.m. Victoria time tonight, will address the nation from Ottawa over the CBC network. Local listeners may hear the Princess over CKDA, CJVI and CBR.

According to British United Press, the visit of the Royal Couple to Windsor, Ont., next Monday, will be telecast in what the National Broadcasting Company describes as "the first international network television broadcast." The ceremony at Windsor's government dock will be seen coast-to-coast in the U.S.

Action On Duncan Bridges To Be Asked

DUNCAN—Duncan Chamber of Commerce today pressed for immediate action to put a number of bridges in good condition.

The Department of Public Works will be notified of condition of the White Bridge over Cowichan River which has been closed to traffic and also the E. and N. Railway Bridge on the old Island Highway near Skinner Road and several other bridges in poor condition.

Green China Troops Turn Tail And Run

U.S. EIGHTH ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Korea (AP)—Fifty American tanks led thousands of United States infantrymen on a surprise attack today that smashed eight miles through Chinese lines in eastern Korea.

Gen. James A. Van Fleet, in a surprise visit to the front, expressed hope the raid "will be the end of the Heartbreak Ridge fighting."

Green Chinese troops turned and ran in the face of the armored thrust.

The raiders sent the Chinese "running in all directions."

In the air American jet pilots reported they probably shot down two Russian-type MIG-15 jets in a clash between 32 Thunderjets and 25 Reds.

Two American planes were lost in other actions.

On the ground Americans fought fierce 1,000-man Red counter-attacks and hacked out small gains of their own in two sectors.

One U.S. unit was pushed back slightly in the east. The tank-infantry task force returned to its own lines by nightfall after slashing up a valley alongside Heartbreak Ridge. It caught green Chinese troops by surprise as the Reds moved into the front to relieve North Koreans.

Cocktail With No Kick

FLEMINGTON, N.J. (AP)—A non-alcoholic substitute for the cocktail was proposed Tuesday night by the New Jersey Women's Christian Temperance union. Its contents: Lime juice, sugar, green food coloring and carbonated water, chilled and garnished with a mint twig and a maraschino cherry. Its name: The lime bubble.

OTTAWA (CP)—A gracious, royal princess came to this capital today and won a gay, royal welcome.

In crisp, regal autumn weather, under a cloudless sky, Princess Elizabeth and Prince Philip arrived for a two-day stay and met the greatest welcome Ottawa has extended since her parents, the King and Queen, visited the city in 1939.

Tens of thousands, in a happy, rollicking mood, turned out to see the royal couple—at their arrival spot on exclusive Island Park Drive, at a monster reception for the youngsters at Lansdowne Park, at a sombre ceremony at the National War Memorial and along the flag-draped streets leading them through the city to Government House.

For a city of approximately 250,000 population, Ottawa put on a tremendous show.

At least 50,000 persons were jammed into uptown Confederation Square for the war memorial ceremony—and an estimated 100,000 others lined the Royal route, cheering and applauding.

Greeted By Dignitaries

The Princess was a picture of beauty in blue as she stepped down from the Royal train, bearing her and the Duke from Quebec, at the Island Park siding at precisely 10 a.m., E.S.T.

to be met by Governor-General Viscount Alexander, Prime Minister St. Laurent and other dignitaries.

She wore this costume: A pure silk redingote, slate-blue coat with a slate-blue dress and black gloves, shoes and purse. Her hat was black, shiny and closefitting with two feathers framing her hairline.

In the official welcoming party was Mayor Charlotte Whitton of Ottawa, only woman mayor of a major Canadian city.

The arrival spot made a colorful scene.

The 100-yard-long platform was painted red, white and blue.

Flags hung from virtually every house on the driveway.

Hundreds of children—and adults—thronged the barriers holding them back from the arrival site.

Wild Cairo Mob Swarms Streets

By EDWARD POLLAK

CAIRO, Egypt (AP)—A wild crowd armed with stones and clubs surged through Cairo's streets today, attacking western business houses in a frenzy of anti-foreign rioting.

The outbreak sprang from Prime Minister Mustapha el Nahas Pasha's denunciation of the Anglo-Egyptian treaty and his bid to chase British troops off Egyptian soil.

The rest of the Arab world meanwhile joined Egypt in full support behind his plans to drive Britain out of its Suez Canal enclaves and the Anglo-Egyptian Sudan.

A British and a French firm and the trucks of Coca Cola and Pepsi-Cola distributors were first targets for attack by shouting mobs. They also stoned and attempted to storm the big Imbabiya buildings in the heart of Cairo.

The two buildings, constructed around an open court, house a number of American and British business offices.

The assault against the Imbabiya buildings was touched off by someone who threw a firecracker—or some other explosive from an Imbabiya balcony into a crowd of orderly demonstrators below.

Egypt Warned By Acheson

WASHINGTON (AP)—State Secretary Dean Acheson said today the United States believes new Egyptian defense proposals expected shortly "should serve as a sound basis" for settling the current British-Egyptian argument over the Suez Canal and Sudan.

Acheson in his press conference in effect warned Egypt against canceling its 1936 defense pact with Britain illegally.

"The United States government believes that proper respect for international obligations requires that they be altered by mutual agreement rather than by unilateral action by one of the parties," he said in a statement.

The Egyptian government served notice Monday that it is canceling the 20-year Anglo-Egyptian treaty signed in 1936 and an agreement with Britain dating back to 1899 which provides for joint Anglo-Egyptian administration of the Sudan.

Acheson noted that new proposals have been under consideration for middle-eastern defense and were to be presented to Egypt "within the next few days." He then added:

"It is the belief of the United States that a solution to the Anglo-Egyptian question can be found through these proposals."

"The United States considers that the new proposal to be presented to the Egyptian government should serve as a sound basis for an agreement which will not only satisfy the interests of all parties concerned, but also contribute to the defense of the free world in which the middle-east plays such an important role."

PLAN TO CUT MILK COSTS BEFORE BOARD THURSDAY

The B.C. Milk Board will meet in Vancouver Thursday afternoon to consider 41 Victoria and district producers' application for a license to distribute their own milk.

E. C. Carr, chairman, said in a telephone conversation this morning a date for a hearing probably will be set at the meeting. He didn't know if the hearing would be held in Vancouver or Victoria.

The chairman said the application asked for early action because the producers were anxious to make a start on their plan. Carr added that this was the first application of this nature received by the board.

Meanwhile, the threat of a milk producers' strike continues, but no date has been set to stop supplies to consumers. The application now before the board may forestall a strike.

A central strike committee has been established to work out details of the proposed strike. One matter the committee is investigating is the legality of such action.

Neither A. G. Lambrie, president of the Vancouver Island Dairymen's Association, or H. G. Robinson, secretary, were available for comment this morning.
